Defunct Company's Directors Censured Following Inquiry

Ontario Securities Commissioner Scores All But Three Members of Board of Manufacturers' Finance Corporation

Declares Stevens. Among 'Guinea Pigs'

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 22.—With three exceptions, directors of the defunct Manufacturers' Finance Corporation were censured to-day by J. M. Godfrey, Ontario securities commissioner, in a report of his inquiry into the company, which went bankrupt in 1928 with a loss of more than $3,300,000. There were no recommendations toward what action, if any, might be taken.

The censured directors are Col. J. A. Cooper and J. A. C. Cameron, Toronto; Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P.; the late W. J. Westaway, Hamilton, and Charles D. Howard, Sherbrooke, Que.

In addition, Mr. Godfrey listed nine men who he said could be described as "guinea pig directors, or in the vernacular of the financial underworld, 'front men,'" for Senator J. Anthony McDonald, president, Shediac, N.B., and his brother, the late W. M. McDonald, secretary-treasurer.

NO BLAME ATTACHED
The three directors not open to censure because of the corporation's failure were William Duff, Liberal M.P. for Antigonish-Guysboro, N.S.; H. R. Huot, Montreal, and A. E. Hill, Chicago, representing the Camphor Company.

After naming these three, the commissioner said:
"The remaining directors must be censured for permitting shares to be sold to the public on the representation that the investors were guaranteed against loss by reason of the insurance of the accounts. It is difficult to realize why, with knowledge that there were large deficits and that no claims were being made on the insurance companies, they did not take some action to protect the shareholders and to prevent further investments by the public."

SENATORS INCLUDED
The nine termed "guinea pig directors" of the corporation, declared bankrupt in 1928, were: Hon. P. M. Blundin, Montreal; the late Senator Gideon Robertson, Ottawa; Lieut.-Col. Boyd Anderson, Montreal, N.B.; Col. D. R. Street, Ottawa; Col. Robert Starke, Montreal; D. A. Morrison, Amherst, N.S., and Messrs. Stevens, Howard and Westaway.

NOT QUALIFIED
"These men," said Dr. Godfrey, "had no qualification to act as directors in such a highly specialized banking business as the one in which the company was engaged." He added:

Athens, July 22.—Gen. George Kondylis, war minister and vice-premier of Greece, has no intention of attempting a coup d'etat aimed at restoration of the monarchy, Premier Panagiotis Tsaldaris told questioners here to-day.
While the fate of the Greek republic was believed to be in the balance as Mayor Jostias of Athens conferred with former King George in London to-day, Premier Tsaldaris said the major was not on an official mission.
He admitted, however, the trip probably would be important in furnishing an exact picture of the exiled monarch's viewpoint in the situation.
Hope was expressed here that former King George would bring an end to Greek unrest and political bickering by a clear statement.

SCHOOL IS DYNAMITED

Building in Doukhobor Area at Brilliant, B.C., Damaged; Police Investigated

Canadian Press
Nelson, B.C., July 22.—No. 3 school at Brilliant, known as the "Pleasant" School, was badly wrecked by an explosion at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, presumably by dynamite, and an investigation into the circumstances of the explosion was being carried on by provincial police to-day.

The blast occurred in the school-room and considerable work will have to be done before it is again used.
The building, situated across the Kootenay River in the Doukhobor colony, is a one-story frame structure, consisting of a schoolroom and teacher's living quarters at the rear. Miss Hazel Hull of Nelson taught a class of thirty-nine there last term.

Following the explosion Constable George MacAndrew of Castlegar and Corporal D. Helmer of Nelson made a preliminary investigation.

Son of Sir Austen Chamberlain Returns to Post in Palestine

Associated Press
London, July 22.—Captain Joseph Chamberlain, held by Wahadi tribesmen in Medjlas territory, was ordered released, it was learned from an authoritative source.

At the same time it was reported Crown Prince Emir Saud of Saudi Arabia, scheduled to leave London to-day after a five-weeks' visit, had interceded in behalf of young Chamberlain, calling his father, Ibn Saud, ruler of the territory.

The British officer, son of Sir Austen Chamberlain, is expected to return to Transjordan at once.
His release was ordered when the Transjordan high commissioner explained to the Arabian government Chamberlain and his companion had lost their way, and had not deliberately violated laws against crossing the frontier.

Chamberlain, who is stationed with the frontier force at Zerka, crossed the frontier July 14 with companions traveling in a military transport car.

Joseph J. Wachter Succumbs to Loss of Blood After Stabbing Saturday

JOSEPH J. WACHTER died in hospital from wounds Saturday.

Joseph J. Wachter, 217 Wilson Street, died in the Jubilee Hospital on Saturday evening at 6:50 o'clock, following the stabbing affray Saturday morning in Wachter's Cigar and News Stand, 1334 Douglas Street.

Mr. Wachter succumbed to throat wounds believed to have been self-inflicted with a long razor, following the stabbing of his son Tommie "Tommy" J. Wachter, 442 Cook Street.

In St. Joseph's Hospital to-day Tommy Wachter's condition was reported little changed and still serious.
A delicate operation was performed by Dr. Gordon C. Kenning on Saturday when it was necessary to remove ribs on the left side to see the heart which was punctured by the thrust of a butcher knife with an eight-inch blade.

Joseph Wachter died in the Jubilee Hospital from loss of blood after an attempt to save him with blood transfusions had failed.

INQUEST TO-DAY
An inquest was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Sands' Funeral Parlor, where police told of the investigation they had conducted into the stabbing and of finding the butcher knife and long razor.

The thrust from the knife entered the son's body through a rib, piercing the outer covering of the heart.
Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on April 24, 1870, the father came to Victoria in 1905 and for several years was with the Victoria fire department. He entered the retail tobacco business and operated stores at several locations on Douglas Street and in the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Building. His widow, a daughter, Miss Claire Wachter of Victoria; Tommie J. Wachter, the wounded son; a son, Roy, in the United States; a brother, Frank L. of Victoria, and another brother and two sisters in the United States survive him.

If Miss Buhl landed safely she was to receive $100 which had been collected from the onlookers.

C.N.R. Heads Find Depression Defied

Bright Industrial Spot of Canada Discovered By Them at Youbou, Lake Cowichan, Where Most Modern of Mills With 250 Employees Has Run Unaffected By Hard Times; Trustees and President of Railway Here on Tour of System

Heads of the Canadian National Railways are here for a two-day stay and on this island have found one of the bright industrial spots of all Canada.

It was at Youbou at the head of Lake Cowichan and at the head of steel on the Canadian National's Victoria-Up Island line that the railway heads found this particularly bright spot.

Headed by Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board of trustees of the Canadian National, they made the trip up the island from Victoria by rail yesterday.

At Youbou they found what Judge Fullerton and the other members of the party to-day described as the most modern sawmill in Western America.

They said they were surprised to learn that it was one of the important industrial plants of Canada that had not closed down during the depression, but had continued without a break to saw timber at the rate of some 250,000 feet a day to fill trains of Canadian National freight cars which are brought down to Victoria to make the Open Point docks here a busy export unit.

THE PARTY
With Judge Fullerton here to-day are: J. Edouard Labelle, K.C., trustee, Montreal, S. J. Hungerford, president, Montreal, A. E. Warren, vice-president, Western Lines, Winnipeg, C. B. Brown, chief engineer, Montreal, Dr. W. J. Black, director of Colonization and Agriculture, Montreal, H. A. Dixon, chief engineer, Western Region, Winnipeg and B. T. Chappell, general superintendent of the B. C. district, Vancouver.
The party was greeted here by C. P. Earle, general passenger agent, Victoria, and Norman Fraser, assistant general agent, Victoria.
At Youbou the Canadian National heads were greeted by D. M. Hartnell, managing director of the Industrial Timber Mills Ltd., J. Hood, sales manager, and other operating officials of the company. They were shown

TEN NEW FACES FOR SENATE

Three Cabinet Members and Ontario Woman Among Appointments

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 22.—Cutting deeply into his own cabinet and disposing of half the important appointments awaiting action, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett Saturday evening announced the names of ten new senators, the personnel of the unemployment and social insurance commission, several high judicial posts and the new commissioner of patents.

A feature of the announcements was the elevation of three cabinet ministers to the Senate and one to the judiciary, and the selection of a woman to be Canada's second senator of the female sex—Mrs. Howard T. Falls of Peterborough, Ont.
Numerous other important appointments remain to be filled by the Prime Minister, including the Canadian wheat board of three members, several deputy ministers, seven senators and many lesser administrative posts.

In addition there will be the necessity of replacing the four ministers included in Saturday's appointments, and the likelihood of further vacancies in the cabinet before the general election.

Just before he left for his vacation Mr. Bennett said it did not necessarily follow that further appointments would await his return. It is believed, however, there will be no cabinet reorganization until he is back in his office, and that the election date will be announced also at that time.

Two Seriously Hurt at Aberdeen, Washington; Thirty-two Escape

Aberdeen, Wash., July 22.—Three men lost their lives, one in an extremely critical condition, two others are suffering from serious injuries and two more have less dangerous hurts as the result of a fire which destroyed the three-story frame Del Monte Hotel here.

The fire, of undetermined origin, which broke out early yesterday swept through the building so quickly J. Jorgensen, forty, and Joe Martin, thirty-six, laborers, were trapped and died in their rooms.

Leaving from a third-story window waiting to be rescued, Max Larson, a longshoreman, was blown from it by an unexplained blast. He fell to a metal marquee, rolled to the sidewalk and died a short time later.

Hospital attendants said there was slight hope of recovery for Pete Bost, fifty-six, who was burned over his entire body.

BACKS BROKEN

A. Paulson, forty, and J. F. Cochran, fifty-eight, suffered fractures of their backs in jumping from windows.

Frank E. Mitchell, seventy-three, received back injuries and Frank Thiers, seventy-one, was burned on the face and hands.

Fire Chief Charles A. Borman said the fire started at an corner on the second floor of the hotel, built forty-six years ago, and that the flames spread with lightning-like rapidity to the third floor. In a few minutes they broke through the roof.

Thirty-two men were sleeping in the hotel when a man whose name was not learned discovered the fire and sounded the alarm. Twenty-four men escaped by jumping from windows or by sliding down ropes or fire ladders.

ONTARIO WOMAN SENATOR

Ottawa, July 22.—An eloquent and public spirited wife of a Peterborough Ont. farmer, Mrs. Iva Campbell Paila, to-day held the distinction of being the second woman member of the Canadian Senate. She is the third of her sex to hold a seat in Canada's Parliament, and the only woman on the government side of the red chamber.

The name of Mrs. Iva Campbell Paila appeared among the list of ten senators whose appointments were announced by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett Saturday evening. She is a daughter of Ontario who has known the rigors of life on a Saskatchewan farm, and combines the ability of performing most of the heavy duties of farm life with that of an eloquent platform speaker.

FIRST APPOINTMENT

In February, 1930, shortly after the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council had decided in Canada women were "persons" and entitled to all the prerogatives enjoyed by men in respect to government, the then Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, summoned Mrs. Iva Campbell Paila to the Senate. She was the first woman Senator, and the second woman to become a member of Canada's Parliament.

"They were lured into the company and allowed their names to be used by a gift of common shares of stock."

Because of the time elapsed since the corporation went into bankruptcy and because the matter already had been considered by law officers in 1929, Mr. Godfrey said, "I do not propose to make any recommendation as to what, if any, action might be taken."

The commissioner accompanied his lengthy report with a brief one on the concurrent inquiry he undertook as a royal commissioner into prosecution and proposed prosecution arising from bankruptcy of the corporation.

He found that on the advice of the late Edward Barry, K.C., deputy Attorney-General of Ontario, and D. L. McCarthy, K.C., Toronto, specially retained as counsel to advise the department, prosecutions were not proceeded with.

PRESIDENT'S SALARY

Senator McDonald, said the commissioner, received a salary of $10,000 a year as president and an allowance of $80 a week for expenses, and it would be expected he "should have known intimately the condition of the company, its internal management and financial position."

"All the evidence indicates, however," said the report, "he was nothing more than a promoter and was interested only in sale of securities by high pressure methods and in the acquiring of assets of other companies. His conduct as president cannot be too severely censured."

Huot, elected to the board in April, 1929, became "auspicious" shortly afterward of the financial position of the company, the report said. He had interviews with Col. Cooper and Mr. Stevens, wrote a letter to Mr. Westaway and prepared a questionnaire which was sent to Messrs. Cooper Westaway, Howard and the company secretary.

ADDRESS ASKED

The commissioner said Mr. Stevens asked Huot to give his address so the matter could be discussed. "He never heard anything further from Mr. Stevens," said the commissioner.

At a meeting of directors on November 13, 1926, Huot had told the directors, according to evidence, they were nothing but "rubber stamps" for the McDonalds, and "at the next annual meeting, as the McDonalds did not desire to have on the board anyone who showed intelligent inequity, Mr. Huot was dropped from the board" and replaced by Hill.

As soon as Hill found out the condition of the company he took the necessary steps for an investigation which resulted in its liquidation, Mr. Godfrey said.

ELECTION OF STEVENS

Mr. Stevens, the commissioner recalled, was elected a director at the annual meeting on March 11, 1924, but did not become a shareholder until March 4, 1925, when he received from W. McDonald a bonus $2000 common shares of "water stock" having a nominal par value of $10. "For nearly a year Mr. Stevens acted as a director without being qualified," Mr. Godfrey said.

For a subscription of shares which Mr. Stevens said had been ordered conditional on an office being opened in Vancouver, the solicitor for the liquidation said there was no binding agreement to purchase them.

The commissioner said it was clear from evidence of Col. Cooper, Mr. Stevens and other directors not only knew there were defaults on the lien notes discounted by the company and no claims were being made, but in that Japan had no political interests in Ethiopia.

London, July 22.—(Canadian Press from Havre).—Great Britain is ready to move to Geneva to have the League of Nations Council consider the whole Italo-Ethiopian question and not merely the appointment of a fifth member to the mixed arbitration commission. It was reported here to-night.

The cabinet, it was understood, decided at a meeting this afternoon to support the League in the Ethiopian crisis, come what may, and to conform vigorously with any decisions it may make.

LIGHTNING KILLS FOUR ON BEACH

New York, July 22.—A bolt of lightning flashed down on crowded Brighton beach Saturday, killing four bathers and rendering four more unconscious.

Those killed were Dr. Joseph Borak, Joseph Harris, forty, his son, Bennett Harris, fifteen, and Marvin Chesner, all of Brooklyn. Among the injured is Russell de Shant, whose legs were paralyzed.

S. K. LIMBREY, TRURO, N.S., DIES

Truro, N.S., July 22.—S. K. Limbrey, forty-five, well-known throughout Nova Scotia as a leader in the Boy Scout movement, died Saturday. Before the war he was in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, working in the western provinces. Following the war, in which he was wounded twice and gassed once, he returned to Canada and became associated with the Boy Scouts.

He was a native of Hornchurch, Sussex, England.

NEW ONTARIO HUNT FOR GOLD

Party From England to Search in South Porcupine Region

Canadian Press
London, July 22.—The lure of gold to-day beckoned a small group of adventurous Britons to northern Ontario.

Within a fortnight they plan to sail from Southampton to search for gold which they believe can be mined in the Great Lakes district of northern Ontario. They hope to return "fantastically wealthy."

Dennis Dollard will lead the expedition, which includes Mrs. John Lambton, aviatrix, and A. F. Coyne, geologist. Coyne said that during a visit to Canada he met a Miss Emily Ellis, who told a strange story of her father, Captain Ellis, striking gold in 1882. He checked the facts and formed the opinion there was something in the story.

Coyne said he believed Captain Ellis had accidentally struck a part of the 1,000-mile trail through northern Ontario made in 1882 by the famous French voyageur, Radisson, who discovered gold at a spot unknown to anyone else. Coyne declared he was satisfied this gold would equal the famous Rand gold strike in South Africa.

Dollard, who has had an adventurous life in many parts of the world, is a descendant of Desormaux, hero of the defense of the Long Point Rapids in 1802 when Montreal, then a tiny settlement, was saved from attack by the Indians. Dollard said he was certain a gold vein existed in the south Porcupine district.

IMPORT QUOTA PLAN FOR U.S.

Associated Press

Washington, July 22.—By a vote of sixty to seventeen the U.S. Senate to-day adopted an amendment to Senator La Follette's Progressive, Wisconsin, to the Agriculture Adjustment Administration bill permitting the President to impose quota restrictions on agricultural imports to preserve price gains achieved by the United States farm programme.

In effect, it is a substitute for the House provision in the bill which would have permitted the President "to improve quotas and increase tariffs on commodities whose importation was found to be depressing the price of basic farm commodities."

SUDDEN DEATHS IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 22.—Four sudden deaths were included in week-end reports of the Vancouver police department.

The body of Jarvis Lum, an old age pensioner, was found floating in False Creek. He had been missing since Thursday.

C. Bergevin of Goldbridge, B.C., died in St. Paul's Hospital an hour after being admitted. Death was believed due to natural causes.

The decomposed body of Chan Bow, Chinese, was found lying in a bunk in a cabin on East Pender Street. It was reported he had been ill for some time.

An unidentified man collapsed at the intersection of Carrall and Pender Streets and died before medical attention could be called.

AGUA CALIENTE IS PADLOCKED

DROWNINGS AT THE WEEK-END

Auto Accidents Also Took Toll Throughout Canada

Toronto, July 22.—Week-end accidents over Canada took a toll of forty lives, nineteen in Ontario. Drownings and automobile accidents caused most of the fatalities. Death came to a boy in Toronto who walked into a house filled with a poison gas for fumigation. A man in Kitchener, Ont., fell from a chimney to his death.

In addition to the nineteen lives claimed in Ontario, thirteen persons were killed in Quebec through drownings, motor accidents, a fire and lightning.

Two drownings and one death from a car crash occurred in Nova Scotia and two men were drowned near Baywater, N.B.

Three deaths were reported from western Canada—all in Manitoba.

One man was drowned in a gravel pit swimming pool at Bird's Hill and a ten-year-old girl drowned while bathing at Morden. At Winnipeg, George W. Snowden, fifty-two, was killed in an automobile accident.

Decree Issued By President of Mexico Stops Gambling Also at Tia Juana

Associated Press

Agua Caliente, Mexico, July 22.—The picturesque Agua Caliente resort, largely paid for with United States dollars lost in its palatial casino by film celebrities and thrill-seeking tourists, was padlocked to-day.

By decree of President Cardenas of Mexico all gambling was forbidden at the resort after last Saturday night. Since gambling, either in its casino or on its racetrack, had been the life-blood of the resort, immediately ordered the closing of the hotel, the spacious restaurant, bars—everything. Guests were ordered from their rooms yesterday. Horses began to move across the border to United States tracks as it became evident there would be no more racing.

The world-famed resort, in existence for the last seven years, had been erected at a cost variously given of from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Tia Juana's gambling casinos also felt the presidential decree.

Agua Caliente and Tia Juana had been the last places in Mexico in which open gambling had been allowed.

FLIERS READY FOR LONG TRIP

But Mystery Surrounds Departure From Moscow For San Francisco

Associated Press

Moscow, July 22.—The when and where of a flight by a Soviet "mystery plane" over the roof of the world—from Moscow, across the North Pole, northwestern Canada, British Columbia by way of Vancouver and on to San Francisco—became mysteries in their own right to-day.

A military airfield commander yesterday evening announced the ship would take off on the spectacular 6,250-mile non-stop flight at 7 a.m. to-day (8 o'clock yesterday evening Victoria time), but to-day all efforts to obtain information concerning the projected departure proved fruitless.

Not only the plans for the take-off, but even the whereabouts of the plane were kept strictly secret, government officials asserting merely that details of the departure would be announced at the proper time.

The only clue to the disappearing ship came from a spokesman at the Sholokov military field, twenty-five miles from the city, who said he had seen it take to the air Sunday morning. The plane has been making practice flights at different fields.

FAMOUS PILOT

One of the Soviet's most famous fliers, Sigmund Levanevsky, is in command of the crew for the trip to North America, aided by a co-pilot, Rastukoff, and a navigator, Levinenko. Levanevsky came into prominence in 1933 when he flew to the rescue of the United States round-the-world flier, James J. Mattern, stranded on the frozen wastes of Anadir.

The flight—one of the most spectacular ever undertaken—would, if successful, break the world non-stop distance flight record of 5,837,367 miles set by the Frenchmen Codoas and Rosel in a flight from New York to Rayak, Syria, August 5, 6 and 7, 1933.

Levanevsky had pronounced the polar plane in "perfect condition," and said he and his companions expected to complete the flight in from sixty to seventy-two hours.

The flames beyond control and concentrated on preventing the fire from spreading. A westerly wind assisted them as the flames were whipped away from the settlement.

Says Decree Was Properly Granted

Counsel Argues Before Privy Council in London on O. L. McPherson Divorce Given in Edmonton

Canadian Press

London, July 22.—An open court was any place in which a judge sat, counsel for the plaintiff contended as the McPherson divorce appeal continued to-day before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The appellant, Mrs. Cora McPherson, is appealing against a ruling of the Supreme Court of Alberta dismissing her action to nullify the divorce decree granted her husband, O. L. McPherson, then Minister of Public Works of Alberta, in 1931.

Basin of the appeal is the contention the decree was not granted in a proper public court. The appellant declares Mr. Justice Treadle, in granting the decree, sitting in the judge's library or the courthouse at Edmonton, was not sitting as a judge, inasmuch as the decree was not granted in the proper court chamber and the public was excluded.

S. B. Woods, K.C. of Edmonton, counsel for Mr. McPherson, opened argument to-day and at the outset was asked by Lord Blanesburgh whether Mr. McPherson's second marriage was solemnized before the present action was begun.

(In the divorce action, Mr. McPherson charged adultery with Leroy Mattern. Subsequently he married Mattern's wife.)

Mr. Woods said Mr. McPherson's second marriage was some time previous to the commencement of the present action.

DECREE ABSOLUTE
He proceeded to maintain the real issue was whether the divorce decree, made absolute in open court, was valid, even though it might be held the decree nisi was not pronounced in open court.

"You say the decree absolute was pronounced in open court, interjected Lord Macmillan. "Therefore you say a decree good on the face of it cannot be said to be void, but might be voidable on an invalid decree nisi."

Counsel in reply contended that on the facts given in evidence it could not be asserted the original hearing was not in an open court. An open court was a place in which a judge sat and from which he did not exclude anyone by special order.

IN NEW COUNTRIES
Courts in new countries were held in all kinds of places, through lack of proper courts, and the judges' library, in the present instance, was quite suitable, Mr. Woods asserted, for the hearing of a petition that was not defended.

When application was made for the decree to be declared absolute, the appellant could have raised the same objection that was being raised now, but she had failed to do so, counsel continued. Accordingly, he submitted she was barred from asking now the decree be nullified. She had done nothing for fifteen months after the decree was made absolute, and meanwhile the respondent re-married.

Counsel submitted the general law of estoppel applied to these circumstances.

He also reminded their lordships there was no suggestion the judge (Treadle) had colluded with either party to hold a secret trial.

The hearing is continuing.

Royal Commission to Investigate K.K.K. Letter in Recent Election

Canadian Press

Fredericton, N.B., July 22.—New Brunswick's new Attorney-General, Hon. John B. McNair, K.C., announced here Saturday a royal commission would be appointed by the Dyar government to investigate all features regarding the issuing of a document known as the Ku Klux Klan letter, which injected religion into the recent provincial election campaign.

Mr. McNair stated the former government, at the instance of the then Premier Tilley, passed an order-in-council ordering an investigation into a statement made by himself during the election campaign as to the authorship of a document known as the K.K.K. letter.

"Prior to my statement, several of Mr. Tilley's candidates and campaign speakers made charges imputing responsibility for the issue of this document to the Liberal Party, and some even charged me with its authorship."

"Obviously, the fullest investigation should have been ordered."

FIRE DESTROYS DOOR FACTORY

Canadian Press

New Westminster, July 22.—The plant of the White Rock Sash and Door Co., Ltd., in South Westminster was in ruins to-day following a $30,000 fire which swept the factory late Saturday. Manager R. A. Ferdy stated the loss was largely covered by insurance and that the plant would be rebuilt as soon as possible.

The fire broke out about 6.30 p.m. and, within a few minutes, the acre of factory and yards was ablaze. Firemen from New Westminster found Erupting with a roar that terrified the surrounding communities, Mount Vesuvius, Italy's most famous volcano, became more active than at any time in years. The swirling plume of smoke and ashes forced a display that attracted tourists to Naples in unprecedented numbers when it became apparent that the cone would not go on a rampage.

THE NEW SENATORS

FOUR MEMBERS OF THE FEDERAL cabinet have been appointed to the Senate. Three of them held portfolios, that is to say, were heads of departments and received salaries in that capacity. The fourth was a minister without portfolio and as such drew no emolument. All of them had been in cabinet office since the formation of the ministry five years ago.

The new Senators are: Hon. E. N. Rhodes, until now Minister of Finance; Hon. Alfred Durand, Minister of Marine; Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General; and Hon. J. A. Macdonald, Minister without portfolio. They represent twenty per cent of a cabinet whose prospects of winning the election are so remote as to be invisible. But as far as the quartette are concerned, their electoral worries are at an end; henceforth they will be established in a retreat to which the sound and fury of election campaigns will not penetrate.

It is true the cabinet posts plus their memberships of the House of Commons were several times more lucrative than their senatorial seats. With the defeat of the government they were bound to lose these, while in the Senate they will be fixed as long as that institution of Parliament exists.

Of the four, Hon. E. N. Rhodes is by far the most prominent, and he will be a valued acquisition to the Senate. As a member of the cabinet, he was able, hard-working and conscientious, and in the House he was uniformly courteous and dignified. The demands of his important post as Minister of Finance upon his time and energy have undermined his health, and it has been reported for some time that he intended to retire.

Hon. Donald Sutherland, who also is among the senatorial appointees, is not to be confused with the Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of Pensions and National Health. The new Senator was a member of the short-lived Meighen ministry in 1926 and was defeated in the general election of that year. He sat in the House of Commons as member for South Oxford. The Minister of Pensions and National Health represents North Oxford in the House of Commons.

The appointment of ten new Senators will increase the Conservative majority in the Senate to twenty-five. There are still seven vacancies to be filled, and when this has been done the majority will be thirty-two and the standing of the two parties among the ninety-six members will be sixty-four to thirty-two. That majority, however, will have to walk warily, if a Liberal government is elected, for it is almost certain that legislation initiated by a ministry headed by Mr. Mackenzie King for purely partisan purposes, it might find the stratagem very much of a boomerang. The less politics the Senate plays the longer it lives. Public sentiment in these times is not as complacent as it used to be.

INCOME TAXES

THE TOTAL NUMBER OF INDIVIDUALS who paid income taxes in Canada during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1934, aggregated 203,957 as compared with 166,972 during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1933. This was due to the increase in the number of taxpayers with an income of not more than $3,000. The number of individual taxpayers with an income of less than $2,000 increased from 63,276 during the fiscal year 1932-1933 to 93,316 during the fiscal year 1933-34. Similarly, the number of taxpayers with an income of between $2,000 and $3,000 per annum increased from 29,156 to 46,207.

While by far the largest number of individual taxpayers are in a group of less than $3,000, the bulk of the income taxes is derived from those individuals with an income of over $10,000. Individuals with incomes of over $10,000 paid during the fiscal year 1933-34, $21,000,000 out of a total revenue derived from income taxes of $29,000,000. While only a relatively small amount of the total revenues derived from income taxes are collected from individuals with an income of less than $3,000, the Canadian Government believes that taxing even the smallest income makes the people as a whole more tax conscious.

Farmers as a rule pay no income taxes, which is clearly borne out by the fact that during the fiscal year 1933-34 only 262 agrarians in Canada paid income taxes. Men engaged in finance paid the highest average per capita income tax. During 1933-1934, the average per capita income tax paid by this group amounted to $639. Wholesale merchants were second with a per capita income tax of $378, followed by professional men who paid on the average $338 during the fiscal year 1933-34.

The number of corporate taxpayers during the fiscal year 1933-34 aggregated 8,913 as compared with 6,483 during the previous year. The greatest increase took place in financial corporations whose number rose from 1,270 during the fiscal year 1932-33 to 2,853 during the fiscal year 1933-34. The second largest group is contributed by manufacturing corporations which during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1934, aggregated 1,897 as compared with 1,829 during the preceding fiscal year.

TURNED DOWN

THE LLOYD GEORGE "NEW DEAL" for Great Britain has been turned down by the government. But the war-time Prime Minister is not taking it lying down.

The dynamic little Welshman, who is now running a farm in Surrey, is not subdued by the rebuke of a Prime Minister who smokes a long pipe and likes to watch his pigs in Worcestershire. The Lloyd George, who really did great things, materially and psychologically, during the dark days of the war, who almost made Limehouse synonymous with his own name, still seems full of pep.

Whether in the forthcoming election in Great Britain the war-time Prime Minister can come back or not is problematical. Some British Premiers have come back. Disraeli and Gladstone did. But they were of another day, and operated in different circumstances.

Mr. Lloyd George has framed a plan which will undoubtedly capture the imagination of many of the Toms, Dicks and Harrys who are finding it pretty hard going these days.

Peace and reconstruction—there is a touch of the Stevens programme in this, especially the reconstruction which our own Harry never thought of while he was a member of the Bennett government—are the cardinal points of the little Welshman's platform.

The Baldwin government used up sixteen thousand words to tell Mr. Lloyd George that his "New Deal" was no good.

What the people actually think of it remains to be seen. Mr. Lloyd George's reply is summed up in his statement that the government's document "is a most complete essay in self-complacency."

ECONOMIC CRAZINESS

THE PRIME MINISTER OF CANADA has announced that he will impose a thirty-three and one-third duty on such goods as we have been importing from Japan because Japan has been able to get Canada to meet her currency deficiency.

This means that a trade which has been netting a four-dollar-to-one advantage for this country will be practically wiped out. Last Saturday, Japan imposed a fifty per cent surtax on a number of Canadian goods which have found a ready market in the Island Kingdom, and the reply of the Prime Minister is that there will be a thirty-three and one-third ad valorem duty on Japanese goods entering Canada. This will mean a loss of about six million dollars' worth of business to British Columbia.

The present Prime Minister of Canada is following the same course with Japan as he did with New Zealand. His famous butter tax cut a business worth about $35,000,000 down to less than $5,000,000.

When, ask the people of Canada, are we going to have a chance to get rid of a government which has lost all sense of proportion in matters of trade and commerce?

"A PERFECT DAY"

FOR A LITTLE WHILE DURING THIS week-end Victoria was privileged to be host to hundreds of business and professional women from various parts of Canada and, particularly, from the United States.

Perhaps it would not be invidious to single out for special mention a very charming woman who has endeared herself to millions of the world over. She is Carrie Jacobs Bond—whose song, "A Perfect Day," has given her the entrée to many hearts.

She has passed the Psalmist's allotted span, but seems destined to show her genius for many years yet. At the Empress Hotel on Saturday, she refused to be photographed, but she wanted to talk to all the women who make their living, if the term may be used, "by the sweat of their brow."

She left Victoria Saturday thrilled with the charms of the city of which she had very little more than a fleeting glimpse. Her many friends here hope to have the pleasure of again welcoming this fine representative type of womanhood.

THIS CONTINENT AND ETHIOPIA

WHATEVER ELSE IT MAY DO, THE trouble between Italy and Abyssinia is at least providing us with a practical test of some of our fine-spun theories about the way to work for a warless world. An example or two can be found in the discussion of the matter held recently in the British House of Commons.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Minister, suggested that England would welcome any offer of American co-operation in the effort to avert war; but he warned the Commons not to expect too much, adding:

Let us foster friendship and maintain in our intercourse a realistic attitude toward each other. We must expect no more from our American friends than they are willing to contribute.

This, of course, was simply a reminder that isolationist sentiment is so strong on this continent that neither Ottawa nor Washington can be expected to make more than a gesture—a fact that friends of peace often overlook.

In other words, Anglo-American intervention in this quarrel would have scant effect unless everybody clearly understood that in a showdown the two nations would use guns to enforce their views. Since it is perfectly obvious that neither cares to do that, the sensible thing is to warn everybody to "expect no more from our American friends than they are willing to contribute."

There is, of course, the matter of imposing an embargo upon the shipments of munitions to warring nations. The House of Commons was told that Britain has banned such shipments to Abyssinia, but has not needed to do so in the case of Italy, because Italy makes her own munitions.

Just Folks

THEY DIDN'T KNOW

They only knew her garden was a pretty spot to see. They only knew that day by day out there she seemed to be.

But just what she was doing when the roses used to grow They never thought to ask her as they saw her come and go.

They knew that she was busy in her garden day by day. And always in the summer she had flowers to give away. But they thought, once being planted, all unaltered blossoms grew. And the care that roses ask for was a thing they never knew.

Now that garden once so lovely lacks her wise devoted care. And the roses are not blooming as they did when she was there. There are tall canes, wild and thorny, left to flourish and to sprout. Which the mother, were she living, would have quickly taken out.

Now they wonder why her garden is no longer fair to see. Why there's scarce a rose in blossom where profusion used to be. But so often ruin follows when the happy gardeners go. There's so much about a garden that you really ought to know.

Loose Ends

The Lion asks for prayers and will get them—Lady Ashley is considered—Moscow is to be repaired—And Mr. Voliva hopes to see the end of everything.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

PRAYERS

THE EMPEROR OF ETHIOPIA, the Conquering Lion of Judah, has called on the Christians of the world to pray for the success of his armies in fighting the Christian armies of Italy. The faith of the Conquering Lion is indeed moving. He can't get any of the Christian states to help him fight a nation which requires his country to make its system of fanatic capitalism work. He can't get any foreign armies, so he asks for foreign prayers.

The poor Conquering Lion evidently lives in a state of touching innocence in his obscure capital. He doesn't seem to have found out that the Christian nations don't care a rap about Ethiopia and are concerned about its invasion only because they fear it may lead to a wider conflagration that may burn them. If they could be sure that Ethiopia alone would be burned, the Christian nations wouldn't allow the matter to affect their summer holidays in the least.

But no doubt some prayers will go from the Christian nations out to Ethiopia. Armies cost money, but prayers are free and are about the only thing on which the Christian nations don't impose tariffs and export taxes.

Italians, however, are Christians also, and will be supported by Christian prayers on a large scale. It is thus evident that in this war, as in all previous ones, God is going to be on both sides.

NOT A BIGAMIST

THE LOVELY Lady Ashley, arriving in England, by a strange coincidence, on the same boat with Mr. Douglas Fairbanks Jr., said there was no chance of their "marrying for a year, on account of the law's delay in granting final divorce."

She then added this touching statement: "I wouldn't think of making him a bigamist." This indeed is a consideration of Lady Ashley, though the present arrangement does not appear to be particularly inconvenient to either of them. She doesn't want to make the eminent Mr. Fairbanks a bigamist before the world. But one wonders just what she has made him before the world already.

NEW CITY

THE GOVERNMENT OF RUSSIA, having finished the first stage work of the revolution, is now turning its hand to more pleasant things. It is going to re-plan and rebuild Moscow from top to bottom. Moscow is to be built as big as it is now and more. There will be huge boulevards, magnificent hotels, a six-mile belt of forests, and parks completely around the city for the recreation of the people. When complete, the new Moscow should be the finest capital in the world.

Whatever you may think of Communism, here is something which should make us envious. Here is a country struggling to equip itself with modern machinery and lacking the means of production and wealth which we have in abundance and yet, having created an industrial revolution, having built the greatest military machine in the world and huge industries, it still has time and the will to rebuild its chief city.

Yet here in Canada, where we have more building materials than we know what to do with, thousands of idle craftsmen and every form of necessary machine, our cities are running down and can't be rebuilt. We haven't a city in Canada really adequate to the needs of an automobile age. We have only one or two down-town streets in Victoria that are adequate even for our population. Because we are used to it, as one grows used to a hole in a familiar carpet, we don't realize that most of this town's business section should be torn down because it is out of date, dilapidated and hideous. The same can be said of Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal.

A vast area of shacks and hovels on the very edge of our main Victoria business street should be swept away and turned into parks. And all this could be done if we only had the sense to bring the idle men, the materials and the machines together. We don't lack the wealth to do it. We merely lack the intelligence. You don't need a revolution and Communism to do it. You merely need a little sense.

GRAVE THREAT

IT TURNS OUT now that Miss Joan Warner of the United States was fined $3.30 in a Paris court for nude dancing because her efforts threatened the population of France. Certainly she was charged with "outraging the morals" of Paris, and the morals were valued at $3.30 by the learned judges; but behind the prosecution, it now develops, was a much more important and significant social problem.

M. Bouvent, leader of the National Alliance for the Increase of Population, which started the prosecution, has just explained how Miss Warner's nude dance threatened the population of France. He said that if women saw the dance they would be so disgusted by such indecency that they would not want to have any children. Therefore, presumably, there wouldn't be enough boys to make cannon fodder for the next German invasion.

You see, therefore, how serious a menace a blonde girl from the United States, who refuses to keep her clothes on in public, can be to the republican institutions of France.

But just why the women of France would express their proper disgust with indecent dancing by refusal to have any children is not quite clear. Apparently this is a new and deadly weapon corresponding to hunger striking in other nations. And when such a threat is heard, the leaders of the state tremble; for, though Europe is heavily over-populated, it must have more and more sons to fight in the next war. Blonde dancers could be allowed to interfere with this programme. A patriotic people, they would even rather give up nude dancing in Paris than reduce their population.

NUTS

MR. WILBUR OLIN VOLIVA, overseer of the religious colony of Zion, Ill., has broken forth again in prophecy and says Mussolini will conquer Abyssinia, precipitate a world war, followed by Armageddon and the end of the world, "about 1943 or '45." Mr. Voliva also states that the world is flat.

All this, says Mr. Voliva, is foretold in the Bible and one does not like to dispute it. But what intrigues me is that while Mr. Voliva foresees the end of all things, and evidently expects us all to be swept up to heaven in 1943 or '45 on a cloud of fire, yet he is dwelling on nuts and butter milk in the hope of living to be a hundred years or more. That is the discouraging thing about these prophets who expect the early end of the world and heavenly bliss for all of us. They never want to die. Rather than acquire heavenly bliss for themselves, they would rather live on nuts and butter milk. It will be a joke on Mr. Voliva if the world doesn't end in 1943 or '45 and he has to go on living on nuts and butter milk indefinitely.

mittee to ascertain the price at which the Esquimalt Waterworks Company will sell its undertaking to the city and gather other information concerning the revenue and working of the company.

While the more central parts of the city are being converted from residential to business purposes, many well-to-do people are being crowded out and are purchasing or building homes in the suburbs. A number are going to Oak Bay, where many fine sites are obtainable. Alena Martin is erecting a fine home for $12,000 on a site facing Poul Bay Road. H. Churchman Kirkbride is also building a $18,000 home on Poul Bay Road.

Miss Pitts, the Victoria champion tennis player, playing in the Portland tournament this week, succeeded in winning her first victory in the ladies' singles competition.

A little friendly rivalry between local tug-boat was the cause of a very serious accident on Wednesday. There was a race for supremacy between the tug Edna Grace and the Belfair when passing through the Trial Island passage. The Edna Grace had the inside, and, according to her account, the Belfair crowded her so that she went on the rocks. The propeller was stripped, the stern bulwarks battered in, the rudder and rudder trunk badly damaged and her keel partly torn.

PERFECT PEACE

EVOLUTION

To the Editor:—There is one point that seems to have been forgotten by those that have been writing about evolution. The point is this: There is a great difference between well-established things, such as electricity, gravity, and evolution. The things themselves are known, but little or nothing is known about the cause of any of them. In other words, the facts are well established and there is no question about them, but many theories have been brought forward to account for each of them. These theories are all more or less guesses, and the overthrow of any of them does not alter the fact.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the difference between a fact and a theory. For instance, everyone knows that if a heavy weight is held up and then released it will fall. That is a fact. There are many theories about gravity, but nobody knows why the weight falls. It is the same about variation, but nobody knows why living things vary.

"QUERY"

To the Editor:—Having noticed a destructive anonymous letter in your paper under the above heading, and about two weeks ago another letter calculated to undermine a constructive movement of great value to every resident of Vancouver Island, whose work and interests are affected by the property or otherwise of this island. I would like to say that these two letters reflect a non-co-operative and retrograde spirit, which if given publicity and taken seriously would be well calculated to cancel the beneficial effect of a good deal of the remarkably vigorous and intelligent campaign being carried on by the Tourist Trade Development Association. I have no connection with this association, beyond being a very small subscriber, so that the remarks I wish to make can be taken as being entirely unbiassed and unauthorised by and unknown to any official of that organization.

In regard to the first letter named above, the writer advised, all and sundry to be careful before supporting the movement to better the condition of the island roads, on the grounds that the demand for such improvement might be found to be of a political nature. Anyone who has read the able articles which have appeared in the press in regard to this

It is most unfortunate that attempts should thus be made to get the present clear concentration of public opinion and co-operation for the purpose of improving the position of the island put out of focus and confused and diffused by specious arguments and objections of the above nature.

Social Insurance Body Soon At Work

Commission Just Named at Ottawa, With G. S. Harrington as Chairman, is to Aid Jobless to Get Employment

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 22.—Described by Prime Minister B. S. Bennett as the first federal body to be constitutionally empowered to deal with unemployment as a national problem, the new Employment and Social Insurance Commission is about to start work with Hon. Gordon S. Harrington, former Premier of Nova Scotia, as chief commissioner. Official announcement was made last night by the Prime Minister.

Associated with Col. Harrington will be Tom Moore, Ottawa, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, selected after consultation with workers' organizations, and R. B. Beaudet, Montreal, insurance broker, representative of the employers' interests.

The three appointments were announced Saturday evening by Premier Bennett.

While the primary duty of the commission will be to establish machinery for setting up an unemployment insurance fund on a contributory basis, the commission is also instructed to make investigations to ascertain what may be done for the currently unemployed.

AGENCIES IN PROVINCES
 This commission will also be required to set up in each province employment agencies designed to bring employers and workers together and to assist workers in reaching employment.

One of the early bills to be brought down in the House at the last session, the measure became operative when it received royal assent and the commission will now be in a position to go forward at once with organization. When the machinery is ready to start the contributory aspect of the insurance scheme it will be proclaimed in the Canada Gazette.

SALARIES PROVIDED
 Col. Harrington will receive a salary of $10,000 and the two commissioners $6,000 each. Headquarters will be in Ottawa. Just what department of government will have jurisdiction over the commission has not yet been decided, but it is likely the Minister of Labor will be the responsible government member.

The commission will be expected to come to close grips with the unemployment problem. One of the first duties will be to compile records of the unemployed and employable population, the first official effort in that direction since the census of 1931.

The insurance scheme itself applies to a wide list of selected classes of employment, while certain others are excluded. It applies to men and women workers who will be required to contribute small amounts weekly, their employers similar amounts and the government a larger amount, but carrying the administration costs. A worker must make forty weekly contributions before he or she will be eligible for compensation, which will range from $5 a week downward.

The commission will also take steps to set up means of occupational and physical training of unemployed men to prepare them for vocations where work may become available.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

There will also be insurance officers appointed in each province, as well as local employment agencies, and an insurance advisory committee of not more than six members and not serving full time on a salary basis. Another duty of the commission will be to study and report on proposed methods of health insurance in co-operation with provinces and municipalities, and make recommendations to the Governor-in-Council.

Col. Harrington's acceptance of his new position will mean a vacancy in the Nova Scotia Legislature, with choice of a new Conservative leader in that province.

Tom Moore, for seventeen years president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, will be labor's representative on the commission. Born fifty-seven years ago, Mr. Moore has given many years to organized labor. He took an active part in mediating labor disputes during the war.

Stories in STAMPS

No Chinese emperor felt himself secure before his people until he had received a visit from that mysterious and mythical creature, Feng, a beautifully colored bird with long feathers, that was half peacock and half phoenix. This was the phoenix about which many legends have arisen, not only in the Orient, but in the near east.

In the Orient, this supernatural bird is reproduced in design on costumes, in homes and in public places as the symbol of all that is good and glorious. Stamps of both Manchukuo and Japan illustrate it, for it represents to the Japanese and Chinese such lofty virtues as uprightness, humanity, virtue, honesty and sincerity. Its appearance precedes the advent of virtuous rulers, and its presence is an omen of longevity.

Manchukuo illustrates Feng on a stamp of 1934, shown here, and Japan reproduces it, as Howo, on a stamp of 1925.

That added seven points to his mark to total it to .396 but he couldn't shake his leading Big Six rivals, Joe Medwick and Bill Terry each hit five times in eight times at bat for six-point gains. Bruce Campbell of Cleveland broke in at the bottom of the eighth, replacing Jimmie Fox, who failed to hit and lost five points. Campbell connected twice in four attempts.

CANADA STILL IN FIFTH PLACE

Holds Her Position Among Great Exporting Nations of World

Ottawa, July 22.—Canada well retained her place in fifth position in 1934 among the great exporting nations of the world, increasing her percentage of the total world export trade from 3.50 per cent in 1933 to 3.59 per cent last year, the weekly report of the trade and commerce department states. The United States, United Kingdom, Germany and France in the order named surpassed the Dominion.

These figures, taken from the 1934 trade report of the League of Nations, show Canada's percentage of world export trade was greater than in any year since prior to the depression.

Although world export trade is estimated at only 34.4 per cent of the 1926 normal, Canadian exports are shown to be nearly 37 per cent normal, while in 1933 they were 34.4 per cent.

An even better showing is expected for the current year as domestic exports for the first half of the year total $300,265,000 as compared with $289,659,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

In imports, Canada has risen from the eleventh greatest importing nation of the world in 1933 to ninth position last year. This has been mainly brought about by increasing imports of raw and partly finished for use in Canadian factories.

Chicago, July 22.—The King of United States three-year-olds, William Woodward's Omaha, may take another flyer against Discovery, champion of the handicaps division, next Saturday at Arlington Park.

In the $300,000 added classic here Saturday the big son of Gallant Fox covered a mile and a quarter so fast—2:01 2-5—that feverish efforts to get him in there with Discovery in the Arlington handicap were started.

HALF MILLION BOW HEADS AS PILSUDSKI WENT TO REST

With 500,000 people, massed twenty deep, lining streets, flanking the body of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, late dictator of Poland, was borne through Warsaw, starting the journey to the final resting place in Wawel Cathedral in Cracow. Flanked by an honor guard, the flag-draped casket is shown on an artillery caisson as the procession moved slowly between the lines of the mourning throng.

WEEKLY REVIEW

By ALEX PRINGLE

Canadian Press Financial Writer
Toronto, July 22.—Base metal stocks made a hesitating response last week to the New York market's bullish demonstration which carried prices on Thursday to a new high level for the year. Other Canadian listings moved with typical hot weather sluggishness. Industrial stocks registered a minor general retreat and the gold group of the Toronto mining board had a setback of about the same size.

Volume on the mining market stepped up to pass the 400,000-share mark on two successive days this week after hitting around 300,000 for a considerable time. In the pick-up a number of medium price gold shares swung into action with the base metals.

The multiplicity of parties and politics have increased the average market trader's bump of caution. Fear of new taxation on the gold mines is evidently a factor in the recent distinctly slow tempo of business in the shares of the big yellow metal producers.

The only outside developments of the week having a bearing on market action, aside from the New York display of strength, was the advance of the London price for metals and the new move at Washington to speed up the government's silver metal buying programme. It is believed re-establishment of a free market for silver in the United States would go a long way towards reviving interest in the white metal and in the silver stocks.

In the last week silver dropped a cent to 67 1/2, as once on the New York commercial metal market and nearly a penny in London with corresponding weakness in Montreal.

Spot standard copper as well as lead and zinc advanced ten to fifteen shillings a ton on the London market in the last few days and the New York export copper price firmed about 1/4 of a cent a pound.

The London conference of copper men which adjourned this week after deciding to carry along the agreement entered into some months ago to curtail production of the red metal, undoubtedly helped to stiffen the metal prices. Responding to the improved outlook, Noranda advanced 78 cents to $37.75 and the other base metal shares were moderately strong.

Most of the Canadian silver issues closed a little higher on the week. In the golds the two British Columbia leaders displayed signs of casting off the depressed note they had shown for weeks. Bralorne improved 70 cents to $5 and Pioneer gained 25 cents to $9.90. Losses of about $1 each were registered by Hollinger, Lake Shore and McIntyre.

A number of the medium-price golds were given a work-out, rising in turn on short covering and new buying.

STEVENS IS TO TOUR TO COAST

Reconstruction Party Leader Will Leave Ottawa Wednesday Evening

Ottawa, July 22.—His campaign opened in Ontario, Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the Reconstruction Party, to-day looked toward western Canada.

While his itinerary was not available, it had been tentatively decided he would leave for the west about the middle of the week.

He will probably speak in all cities of the prairie provinces and British Columbia in a swift swing round the western country, expected to occupy about three weeks.

A visit to his own riding of East Kootenay, British Columbia, may be made before he goes through to the coast, or if not then, on the return journey.

RELIEF DISCUSSION

A delegation of relief camp strikers from among the number gathered in Ottawa may see Mr. Stevens here tonight. Last week he visited their headquarters and agreed to receive some of them if they wished to come.

ST. CATHARINES ADDRESS

St. Catharines, Ont., July 22.—In the closing of one of Canada's great fruit-producing areas, Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the new Reconstruction Party, Saturday afternoon made a plea for a square deal for the grower.

The fruit grower could not hope to compete with the great canning organizations, he asserted. It was the duty of government to step in and see he received fair treatment. The government must make sure the balance was held in equity as between the two.

SOCIAL CREDIT

Calgary, July 22.—William Aberhart, leader of the Alberta Social Credit league, said in an interview to-day that he was hoping to see Hon. H. H. Stevens when the head of the new Reconstruction Party reaches Calgary, "to discuss a basis of co-operation" between the two parties.

"We are anxious to have someone in Ottawa who will leave us alone," Mr. Aberhart declared.

Yesterday evening the Social Credit chief told members of his Prophetic Bible Institute there was possibility of the Alberta Social Credit League lining up with the Reconstruction Party and warned Social Credit groups and constituency associations to be prepared to enter the federal field.

NELSON WOMAN DIES IN FIRE

Nelson, B.C., July 22.—Mrs. John Linebaugh, seventy invalid widow of "Big John" Linebaugh, former Nelson transfer operator, died from suffocation to-day in a fire which partially destroyed the Columbia bottling plant here.

The blaze was reported at 12:40 a.m. and firemen battled the flames half an hour before they could gain access to the part of the building in which Mrs. Linebaugh lived. They found her dead, but there was no evidence of burns and they reported death was from suffocation.

The bottling company suffered almost a total loss of equipment, but no estimate of the damage could be obtained.

Car Loadings In Canada Higher

Ottawa, July 22.—Car loadings on Canadian railways for the week ending July 18 totaled 45,688, which was an increase of 5,833 over the previous week and of 279 over the same week a year ago, says the weekly report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index rose from 73.33 to 75.01 with the year 1928 equalling 100.

Following are the comparisons with the same week of 1934, last year's loadings being in brackets:

Grain and grain products, 7439 (7,011); livestock, 1,085 (1,155); coal, 5,596 (6,093); coke, 294 (263); lumber, 1,942 (1,725); pulpwood, 1,169 (1,211); pulp and paper, 1,781 (1,785); other forest products, 1,287 (1,785); ore, 1,440 (1,380); merchandise of less than carload lots, 12,263 (12,744); miscellaneous freight, 10,377 (10,338).

BUSINESS IN DOMINION UP

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 22.—From the Maritimes to the Pacific Ocean Canadian businessmen reported conditions this week much improved over the same week of last year, with the recovery that set in some months ago showing no signs of slackening.

Most lines of trades continued fairly active, according to the weekly report to-day of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, in almost all centres.

The report, for the week ending July 20, follows:

Halifax and Saint John—Wholesale and retail trade report business fairly good, collections slow to fair.

Montreal—Hardware sales continue satisfactory and dry goods fair to good. Retailers report groceries selling well. Collections improving.

Toronto—Sales of paints showing improvement over 1934, and hardware continues fair to good. Automotive sales much improved. Collections fair.

Winnipeg—Manufacturing fairly good, and boots and shoes, clothing and dry goods selling well due to better weather. Retail trade fairly active, and collections improving.

Regina—Groceries good, and dry goods and hardware fair. Collections fair to good.

Moore Jaw: Most lines continuing fair to good, with collections about the same.

Saskatoon: Most lines continue to show improvement over this time last year, due mostly to bright crop prospects. Country trade has been brisker than for some time, with current collections good.

Calgary: Little change reported in most lines, generally fair.

Edmonton: Wholesale groceries very satisfactory, but hardware and building supplies quiet. Farm implement business good. City retail trade considerably improved.

Vancouver: Wholesalers about unchanged from last week. Warm weather and increased tourist business has favorably affected retail sales.

NEW HEAD FOR LABOR CONGRESS

Ottawa, July 22.—Appointment of Tom Moore as a member of the Employment and Social Insurance Commission, announced by Premier Bennett Saturday evening, will necessitate his retirement from the presidency of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which position Mr. Moore has held for seventeen years.

The annual meeting of the Congress will open in Halifax September 16, when his successor will be elected.

The executive will decide who will act in the meantime. There are three vice-presidents of equal status, Mayor James Simpson of Toronto, H. J. Tallon of Montreal, president of the Railway Shop Crafts, and Percy R. Benbow, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council.

P. M. Draper, Ottawa, is secretary-treasurer of the congress and a member of the executive.

NO MONOPOLY IN GAS FIELD

Imperial Oil Ltd. Official Tells Fuel Commission Excessive Competition Cause of Extravagant Sales Outlets

Vancouver, July 22.—Excessive competition in the petroleum industry, rather than monopoly, resulting in extravagant and unnecessary duplication of sales outlets for gasoline, was charged to-day by L. C. McCloskey, vice-president of the Imperial Oil Ltd., before the royal commission investigation of the fuel industry in British Columbia.

The commission resumed its sessions here this morning after a month's recess.

McCloskey claimed the Imperial Oil Ltd. had not been a party to the condition of competition, having pioneered the petroleum industry in this province. He said it was now paying numerous penalties for its pioneering efforts.

REASONABLE PROFIT

"The purpose of the Imperial Oil Ltd. is to render important service in the production, manufacture and distribution of oil products in return for a reasonable profit," he said.

"In the company's operations in Canada, we have had a three-fold objective:

"1. Proper and just treatment of labor."
"2. Proper and just prices to consumers."

COAL AND OIL

"In British Columbia, as elsewhere in the world," he continued, "coal is in competition with other fuels. This may be regrettable, but it is unavoidable. In our opinion the coal industry is now in almost exactly the same position as was the petroleum industry some years ago when electric light ousted the kerosene lamp."

"The petroleum industry then was faced with a rapidly dwindling market for its major product, kerosene. The crisis was averted by the evolution of the internal combustion engine. In this the petroleum industry played an important part by developing fuels that increased the efficiency, service and value of the internal combustion engine, thus extending its use and enlarging the market for petroleum products."

"Reference has been made to an alleged monopolistic character of the petroleum industry.

"Anyone who will drive for a few minutes around Vancouver, Victoria or any other city in Canada will perceive how ridiculous suggestions of monopoly are."

"Instead of monopoly, there is excessive competition."

TO APPEAL ON BABY BONDS

Vancouver, July 22.—Appeal will be taken shortly against the decision of Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson on Saturday dismissing an application for an injunction against issuance of $1,500,000 City of Vancouver "baby bonds." It is reported by representatives of G. H. L. Smith, who sued for an injunction as a ratepayer.

His application was denied on grounds he did not show he would suffer irreparable damage by issuance of the bonds.

Meanwhile, Mayor G. G. McEwen is preparing for issuance of the bonds and he announces no time will be lost in a start on construction projects to be financed from proceeds of the sale. The mayor predicted the new city hall would be opened by July 1 next year.

"Eczema came out on my shoulders just like a rash. It started to itch and when rubbed, it would burn like fire. The skin was very sore and red, and was very irritated when scratched. Some nights I would have to get up and wash in cold water."

"I was told it was eczema and was treated, but it did no good. This lasted about a month before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Wes. Parsons, Munro, Ontario.

"Why not? They are taking me back to Thor to kill me. I could be no worse off, no matter what I did. But why do you ask all these questions?"

"If we could get enough to join us, there is no reason why we should not be free," I told him. "When you are free, you may remain free, or choose a master to your liking. I watched closely for his reaction."

"You mean another revolution?" he asked. "It would fail. Others have tried, but they have always failed."

"Not a revolution," I assured him. "Just a break for liberty."

"But how could we do it?"

"It would not be difficult for a few men to take this ship," I suggested. "The discipline is poor, the night watches consist of too few men; they are so sure of themselves that they would be taken completely by surprise."

Zog's eyes lighted. "If we were successful, many of the crew would join us," he said. "Few of them are happy; nearly all of them hate their officers. I think the prisoners would join us almost to a man, but you must be careful of spies—they are everywhere. That is the greatest danger you would have to face. There can be no doubt but that there is at least one spy among us prisoners."

"How about Gamfor," I asked. "Is he all right?"

"You can depend upon Gamfor," Zog assured me. "He does not say much, but in his eyes I can read his hatred of them."

"And Kiron?"

"That man!" exclaimed Zog. "He despises them, and he does not care who knows it; that is the reason he is a prisoner. This is not his first offence, and it is rumored that he will be executed for high treason."

"But I thought that he only talked back to an officer and refused to obey him," I said.

"That is high treason—if you wish to get rid of a man," explained Zog. "You can depend on Kiron. Do you wish me to speak to him about the matter?"

"No," I told him. "I will speak to him and to Gamfor; then if anything goes wrong before we are ready to strike, if a spy goes to our plot, you will not be implicated."

"I do not care about that," he exclaimed. "They can kill me for but one thing, and it makes no difference which thing it is they kill me for."

Zog and I had been working together scrubbing the deck at the time, and it was not until night that I had an opportunity to speak with Gamfor and Kiron. Both were enthusiastic about the plan, but neither thought that there would be much likelihood that it would succeed. However, each assured me of his support; and then we found Zog and the four of us discussed details throughout half the night. We had withdrawn to a far corner of the room in which we were confined and spoke in low whispers with our heads close together.

The next few days were spent in approaching recruits—a very ticklish business, since they all assured me that it was almost a foregone conclusion that there was a spy among us. Each man had to be sounded out by devious means, and it had been decided that this work should be left to Gamfor and Kiron. I was eliminated because of my lack of knowledge concerning the hopes, ambitions, and the grievances of these people, or their psychology; Zog was eliminated because the work required a much higher standard of intelligence than he possessed.

Gamfor warned Kiron not to divulge our plan to any prisoner who too openly avowed his distrust of the Thorians. "This is a time-worn trick that all spies adopt to lull the suspicions of those they suspect of harboring treasonable thoughts, and to tempt them into avowing their apostasy. Select men whom you know to have a real grievance, and who are moody and silent," he counseled.

A very little concerned about our ability to navigate the ship in the event that we succeeded in capturing her, and discussed this matter with Gamfor and Kiron. What I learned from them was illuminating, if not particularly helpful.

The Antiorians have developed a compass similar to ours. According to Kiron, it points always toward the center of Antior, that is, toward the center of the mythical circular area called Strabol, or hot country. This statement assured me that I was in the southern hemisphere of the planet, the needle of the compass, of course, pointing north toward the north magnetic pole. Having no sun, moon or stars, their navigation is all done by dead reckoning; but they have developed instruments of extreme delicacy that locate land at great distances, accurately indicating this distance and the direction; others that determine speed, mileage and drift, as well as the depth gauge whereby they may record soundings anywhere within a radius of a mile from the ship.

All of their instruments for measuring distances utilize the radio-activity of the nuclei of various elements to amplify their ends. The gamma ray, for which they have, of course, another name, being uninfluenced by the most powerful magnetic forces, is naturally the ideal medium for their purposes. It moves in a straight line and at uniform speed until it meets an obstruction, where, even though it may not be deflected, it is retarded, the instrument recording such retardation and the distance at which it occurs. The sounding device utilizes the same principle.

The instrument records the distance from the ship at which the ray encounters the resistance of the ocean's bottom; by constructing a right triangle with this distance representing the hypotenuse it is simple to compute both the depth of the ocean and the distance from the ship at which bottom was found, for they have a triangle of which one side and all three angles are known.

Owing to their extremely faulty maps, however, the value of these instruments has been greatly reduced, for no matter what course they follow, other than due north, if they move in a straight line they are always approaching antarctic regions. They may know what land is ahead and its distance, but they are never sure what land it is, except where the journey is a short and familiar one. For this reason they cruise within sight of land wherever that is practical, with the result that journeys that might otherwise be short are greatly protracted. Another result is that the radius of Antiorian maritime exploration has been greatly circumscribed; so much so that I believe there are enormous areas in the south temperate zone that have never been discovered by the Vepajans or the Thorians, while the very existence of the northern hemisphere is even unguessed by them.

On the maps that Datus showed me considerable areas contained nothing but the single word joram, ocean.

However, notwithstanding all this (and possibly because of it), I was confident that we could manage to navigate the ship quite as satisfactorily as her present officers, and in this Kiron agreed.

Or an attractive way to serve the tried and true combination—cold boiled ham and potato salad—is to roll the ham slices into cone-shaped containers, filling them with the salad. Garnish the dish with celery curls and green pepper rings.

If cooked in their jackets, the potatoes not only retain all their food value but they stay in better shape. Let them cool thoroughly before preparing for the salad.

Sometimes potatoes are used mainly as a filler for other materials, such as bread is used as a carrier for butter. In any event, it is the blandness of flavor that makes the potato valuable for salads.

Cut potatoes in small enough dice to combine with other materials. Large pieces of potato are unappealing, and it should never be necessary to cut them with the salad fork when served. Neither should they be chopped so finely that they suggest hash. Small cubes about half-inch square cut neatly and evenly are the best.

In the following salad the potato acts as a filler. This is an excellent combination of protein and vegetables for a hot day.

SAVORY POTATO SALAD

Two cups diced potatoes, two or three drops onion juice, one small cucumber, four small new beets, four hard cooked eggs, two tablespoons minced parsley, one cup cooked salad dressing.

Dice beets while they are hot and cover with two tablespoons lemon juice, and salad dressing. Stir lightly with a fork and chill for one hour in refrigerator. When ready to serve pour and dice cucumber and add to mixture. Serve on crisp lettuce with minced parsley sprinkled over the top.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, cereal, cream, broiled pan fish, rye toast, milk, coffee.

Lunch—Savory potato salad, cold sliced meat loaf (from last night's dinner), reheated rolls, strawberry preserves, crisp cookies, iced chocolate.

Dinner—Broiled lamb chops, rice patties with currant jelly, green peas, apple and celery salad, gooseberry tart, milk, coffee.

ONE-FOURTH FORMULA

It is when the baby begins to show signs of improvement that the mother is puzzled as to what foods may be included in the diet. One warning should be kept in mind: add new foods slowly and cautiously.

Try the baby at the breast for a very short nursing period, or prepare the milk formula about one-fourth of its usual strength and boil it well before giving to baby. The cereal and the orange juice may be put back into the diet in the same cautious teaspoonful amounts as when they were first fed. Unless the doctor says differently, assume that foods to which baby will not react adversely are clear, fatless meat broths; thin gruels well cooked and stewed; weak formulas of boiled milk and water without sugar, and strained orange juice.

GIVE STOMACH REST

This type of diet, with plenty of boiled water or weak tea, would prevent the baby's being uncomfortably hungry and give the stomach and intestines the necessary rest.

Usually if the recovery is uneventful the mother may figure that it will be at least four days after the baby's fever has disappeared and he shown signs of being on the mend, before his diet will be comparable with the one he was taking at the time of his illness.

It is unwise for the mother to give medicines, or physics, at the behest of some neighbor. She may do the most for her child by keeping him quiet, offering nothing but boiled water, and consulting a doctor. Diarrhea can be a serious, even fatal, ailment if the mother allows the sick baby's cries to convince her that he is hungry.

POTATO REACHES ACME OF USEFULNESS IN SALAD

By MARY E. DAGUE

It is in summer that I really reach the height of appreciation of the potato. When hot dishes dominate the menus, rice and macaroni make acceptable substitutes, but there's nothing that can quite come up to potato salad as the ideal complement of a cold meal.

By varying the seasoning and the combinations with which potato salad is served, I keep it from losing its tart zest for the family.

Generally I make it with a cooked dressing, because the eggs used in its preparation help bring up the food value of otherwise low-calory meals.

But for occasions when a particularly piquant dressing is required, there's nothing finer than the oil and vinegar mixture—two parts salad oil to one part vinegar, seasoned with a touch of sugar, salt, pepper, onion (sliced or juiced) and celery seed.

SALAD PLATE

Do you ever serve potato salad in a cucumber aspic with a garnish of slices of cold baked ham and radish roses? Such a dish is a picture to look at and perfectly delicious to eat.

Or an attractive way to serve the tried and true combination—cold boiled ham and potato salad—is to roll the ham slices into cone-shaped containers, filling them with the salad. Garnish the dish with celery curls and green pepper rings.

If cooked in their jackets, the potatoes not only retain all their food value but they stay in better shape. Let them cool thoroughly before preparing for the salad.

Try the baby at the breast for a very short nursing period, or prepare the milk formula about one-fourth of its usual strength and boil it well before giving to baby. The cereal and the orange juice may be put back into the diet in the same cautious teaspoonful amounts as when they were first fed. Unless the doctor says differently, assume that foods to which baby will not react adversely are clear, fatless meat broths; thin gruels well cooked and stewed; weak formulas of boiled milk and water without sugar, and strained orange juice.

GIVE STOMACH REST

This type of diet, with plenty of boiled water or weak tea, would prevent the baby's being uncomfortably hungry and give the stomach and intestines the necessary rest.

Usually if the recovery is uneventful the mother may figure that it will be at least four days after the baby's fever has disappeared and he shown signs of being on the mend, before his diet will be comparable with the one he was taking at the time of his illness.

It is unwise for the mother to give medicines, or physics, at the behest of some neighbor. She may do the most for her child by keeping him quiet, offering nothing but boiled water, and consulting a doctor. Diarrhea can be a serious, even fatal, ailment if the mother allows the sick baby's cries to convince her that he is hungry.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

DISOBEDIENCE AND HISSERS MAY ONLY BE CHILD'S WAY OF DEMANDING ATTENTION

The screaming in the back yard sounded as though someone were being slowly dismembered. Mother ran and Daddy stood around to the shambles. Neighbors stood up and shuddered. Two boys playing catch down the street did not even stop to get the ball. In one minute and a half the yard was full of people wanting to know what was wrong.

Tommy, galloping around on a clothes line pole, stopped and stared at a rather satisfied stare.

"Oh, darling, are you all right?" sobbed his mother, clasping him in her arms. "We thought something had hurt you. You mustn't scream so loud—it frightens us so."

"Next time you do that, young fellow, I'll just dust your pants," said his father shakily trying to keep the nervous falsetto out of his voice. The neighbors dispersed. The boys went back to their game.

The next evening Tommy lay around on the porch and wouldn't play. He looked ill. His eyes drooped and he sucked his thumb. He only did that when he was not feeling right. When the ice-cream man came along and his father whistled, Tommy said, "Huh-uh. I don't want any ice cream."

HUNTING SYMPTOMS

"Fred, I'm afraid he's sick," came here, dear, and let me tell your head. Well—it is not so very hot. I don't think you've any fever. Come," she tapped her lap. But Tommy eyed his daddy and moved away. He was acting very strangely to-night, his father said. "For Peter's sake, Tommy, either be sick or don't. You're acting like a moon calf. There's Dickie calling you. Run on and play." But Tommy wouldn't move.

The next day was Sunday. After Sunday school, the family was to go to Grandma's for dinner and Tommy's mother told him to keep himself clean as he had no more fresh suits. Out to the garage he went and came in covered with grease. His father heard the ruckus in the kitchen and went out. Then judgment descended on Tommy's seat and he was stripped and sent to bed.

Mrs. Peach was telephoned for, to come and get him some lunch and oversee his safety, and his parents drove away without him.

He did not cry much. Not as much as was to be expected. This was strange, but they put it down to guilt and a feeling that he had got what he deserved. When they returned he was allowed to get up. He was very quiet but kept eyeing his father. By this time Peter's families were contrite and forgiving. He kissed his son and rocked him in his arms a minute and said that he was sorry, but that when a little boy was bad he had to be punished. Tommy put his arms around his father's neck and held on with a strangle hold as though he never meant to let go.

TRUTH OF THE SITUATION

Next day and for many days and evenings he was splendid. His mother and father nodded wisely and said to each other, "It was just what he needed." But they did not know and never would know the truth.

Tommy had a programme. He did not know it himself, consciously, that is, but it was there in his deep mind.

Ann Dvorak, for instance, does a fine abdominal and back exercise that prevents stiffness through her waistline and in her arms and legs, strengthens the muscles in her back and keeps her stomach flat and firm. Here is the way she does it:

Sit on the floor with legs stretched wide apart and backbones as straight as possible. Without moving your hips, swing your body to the left, touching your left foot with your right hand. Take the original position again and then reverse the exercise, turning toward the right, touching right foot with left hand. Repeat twenty times.

When you have finished, bring ankles together, stretch hands out in front at shoulder level and bend forward to touch toes with fingertips of both hands. Do this ten times, going back to the original position between each forward stretch.

Then do the old riding-the-bicycle exercise which certainly is a two and perhaps a three-purpose routine:

Lie flat on the floor with hands held underneath your hips. Force your legs upward to a perpendicular position and make believe you are riding a bicycle. Your hips should not touch the floor. Let your hands support them.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely

Read the following unsolicited letter:

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me."—Mrs. J. S. Maneely, Jr. Address upon request.

"Due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamins B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

MERCY FLIGHT SAVES LIFE

Amateur's Radio Message
Sends Machine Carrying Serum Into North

Edmonton, July 22.—A new mercy flight which apparently saved the life of a patient in the Fort Smith, N.W.T. hospital, was added to-day to the annals of northern aviation.

Carrying serum obtained from a city hospital, Flying Officer Gordon of the Royal Canadian Air Force yesterday flew from South Cooking Lake, the city's air base for float-equipped airplanes, to Fort Smith for a patient whose life depended on the medicine, and doctors there to-day said the patient is recovering.

An amateur radio operator at Marcel, Alta., assisted late Saturday when Fort Smith, unable to contact the army radio station here, contacted his station and he relayed the "R.O.S." message through telegraph lines to Edmonton.

DIAPER DERBY HELD TO-DAY

Men and Women Rivals in Baby-changing Race in Seattle

Seattle, July 22.—Men and women diaper changing experts competed on even terms to-day in Seattle's diaper derby, after the rules committee had squashed the men who demanded a ten-second handicap over the women.
"The women are professionals," the twelve male entrants objected. "We are rank novices and we certainly ought to have ahead start—ten seconds, anyway."

William Shapiro, chairman, announced:

"You'll all start from scratch and anybody who scratches a baby will be disqualified. With women these days demanding no favors when they grab off a man's job, I see no reason for the man asking any when they take a woman's, especially when I suspect a lot of you fellows are professionals yourselves."

Whereupon the men twiddled their sagey pins to limber their fingers.
Three-cornered diapers—the old-fashioned kind—were specified, with all trick, fast operating types definitely prohibited.

The public was being admitted to the Woodland Park hostess house, the diaper changing area. But the feelings of the babies were respected and foundation diapers were provided for all infants used.

Weddings

BLAKEY—THOMSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at St. John's Church when Rev. J. S. A. Bastin united in marriage Mrs. A. L. Thomson and Mr. H. A. Blakey, both of this city.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Blakey will make their home in Victoria.

PROVAN—MATTHEWS

On Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the vestry of the First United Church, Rev. E. W. Horton united in marriage Miss May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Matthews, 1155 Pahlora Avenue, and Mr. Alexander Provan, youngest son of Mr. David Provan, of 3485 Maplewood Avenue, and the late Mrs. Provan.

In the unavoidable absence of her father, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. L. Jones of Nanaimo, and wore a charming frock of pale blue organdie, with floor-length ruffled skirt, and with the bodice draped with a ruffled cape of the organdie. Her hat was of pink mohair trimmed with velvet ribbon to match the gown and she carried an arm bouquet of roses and pink sweet peas.

Miss Elsie Matthews, sister of the bride, was the only attendant and wore a frock of pink organdie, a hat of the organdie adorned with forget-me-nots placed under the brim, and carried a sheaf of sweet peas and carnations.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. James Noble of Victoria.

At the conclusion of the marriage service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. William Smith, sister of the bridegroom, assisted in welcoming the guests. Mrs. Matthews wore a navy blue dress of water-lily green crepe, a hat to match and a corsage of roses.

For the reception the house had been prettily decorated with summer flowers and during the reception the bride and groom stood under an archway of Shasta daisies surmounted with a large wedding bell.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the supper table, which was flanked with silver vases holding in place sweet peas and roses, and lighted with two tall tapers in silver sconces.

The bride and bridegroom left by motor on a trip up the island and on their return to Victoria will make their home on Summit Avenue.

For traveling the bride chose a smart brown dress, a fawn overcoat, with hat and other accessories in brown. Among the many wedding gifts were a silver tray and tea service from the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company, Victoria, of which the bride has been a member for nine years, and a standard lamp from the groom's colleagues on the staff of the Imperial Optical Company.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anne Jones, of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. Lodwick Jones, of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, of Nanaimo, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Price of Seattle.

PETTMAN—HUTCHISON

The wedding was solemnized quietly Wednesday evening at Chalmers United Church, Vancouver, of Grace Arista Jackson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchison of Vancouver, and Mr. William Herbert Pettman, of Premier, B.C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pettman of Victoria, Rev. Melvin officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of yellow silk net with large puffed sleeves and slight train. Her white straw poke-bonnet was faced with yellow and accessories were white, with a muft of pink roses and sweet peas completing the bridal ensemble.

The only attendant, Miss Helen Jackson, wore rose chiffon with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white sweet peas.

Mr. Frank Templeton supported the groom.

Later, a small reception was held at the Hotel Vancouver, Miss Hutchison wearing a navy printed frock and navy hat, the groom's mother also choosing a navy ensemble with matching accessories.

Leaving on a honeymoon motor trip, the bride donned a blue swag-gar suit with white accents.

Mr. and Mrs. Pettman will take up residence at Premier, B.C.

What One Girl Wore

By BETTY BROWNLEE

When you are packing your bag for a week-end trip, what do you take along? If you're like most of us, you probably carefully fold and pack all your prettiest dresses and then, when you get away, wish so much that you had not. For if it is really the kind of week-end in which you'd have the most fun and relaxation, it should be a playtime.

The perfect week-end should imply days out of doors, indulgence in your favorite sports whether it be swim-ming, tennis, golf or riding. During the evenings you will probably dance, so your wardrobe should, of course, include an evening frock or two.

The charming little evening gowns in cotton which are so popular this season answer the week-end need perfectly for they pack easily and are cool and comfortable as well as smart.

But for daytime wear, leave those pretty dresses home. You probably won't wear them anyway. Instead, take along plenty of play clothes. The tennis and beach costumes are especially nice this season.

The awning striped cotton frock illustrated to-day is smart for either the country or the seashore. It is especially pretty in its color scheme, having rose and black stripes on a white background.

The material is used on the bias to make the skirt, which has a centre seam both front and back. The four slit pockets are a nice detail, and black patent leather buttons to match the belt provide a neat bit of wim-ming.

An awning striped cotton frock is smart and practical for wear at either country or seashore. This one, in stripes of white, rose and black is especially nice, with smart details provided in the bias cut skirt, slit pockets and black patent leather buttons.

Mrs. Catherine Rose, Los Angeles, captured the women's singles title from Jean Milne, Vancouver, in the women's singles final, 6-3, 6-2.

The effortless Los Angeles racquet star easily disposed of the slender Canadian after seemingly impossible returns caught Jean flat-footed time after time.

Californians made it a triple victory when Mrs. Margaret Laird, of Glendale, and Mrs. Rose downed Mrs. J. Rose, of Vancouver, last surviving Canadian, and Margaret Osborne, of San Francisco.

With the smiling Mrs. Laird serving a half-dozen aces in the first and third sets, the Southerners won the crown by scores of 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

A quartette of Californians made the tournament a clean sweep for net stars from the southern state when they captured the men's and mixed doubles titles.

Ray Casey, veteran player from San Francisco, paired with youthful John Law, Pasadena, to defeat Sabin and Cooke, Portland team, in a bitterly fought five-set final. The Californians won, 6-3, 5-7, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5.

GRUeling SET

Murio was carried to sixteen games before taking the first set, 9-7, after Smith came from behind a 3-5 deficit to square the match at 5-all. From then on the lead alternated until Murio broke through Smith's service in the fifteenth game for an 8-7 lead, and went on to take his own service in the next game.

Smith won the first three games of the second set in a brilliant display of the net game, which included three service aces. Murio fought doggedly and brought the score up to 5-3 in Smith's favor, but the fair-haired associate professor from Berkeley swept through his own service in the ninth game to take the set.

The two Californians battled on even terms in the third set, each taking their own service in the first six games. Then Murio took his service and broke through Smith's for a 5-3 lead in games. Smith came back to win the San Francisco service, but Murio reversed the result in the next game for a 6-4 victory.

Smith went ahead in the fourth set with a 2-0 lead, but Murio crept back to even terms as he took Gene's hard service and smashed back return aces. The Stanford star went two games up for a 4-2 lead, but Murio fought

LONG SWIM ABANDONED

Paul Chotteau Fails in Catalina Island-Santa Monica Jaunt

Los Angeles, July 22.—An attempted forty-seven-mile swim from Santa Catalina Island to Santa Monica by Paul Chotteau, French marathon swimmer, ended in failure early to-day when strong undercurrents caught him and swept him northward toward Malibu Beach.

After battling the undercurrent for more than an hour, the swimmer, almost exhausted, was pulled aboard the convoy boat about eight miles off shore.

Chotteau, who plunged into the surf at the island Saturday night, reported he was forced to fight off two sharks when he was about fifteen miles out from Catalina Island. He encountered no further trouble until within a few miles of Santa Monica, when he was caught in the strong cross-current which prevented him

MOON STARS IN MIDNIGHT SHOW, ECLIPSING BROADWAY HITS

Playing a one-night stand that drew the biggest crowd of any spectacle in years, the longest eclipse of the moon recorded in fifty years proved the season's most dramatic hit on Broadway as well as throughout many hundreds of miles of adjacent road show territory. Some of the more picyanish critics carped because fleeting clouds now and then obscured the slow progress of the eclipse, and others expressed bitter disappointment because, even at the period of totality, the moon was not completely obscured but gleamed dully through the earth's shadow. In this series of pictures, made from the top of a New York skyscraper, the succession of stages in the eclipse is shown from left to right. The full disk at left gives an idea of how clearly the moon was visible during the period of totality; however, made by a longer exposure than the others, it exaggerates the moon's brightness.

Giants Lead Cut To Game and Half In National League

Drop Two Games To Chicago Cubs; Cards Win Pair

New York Beaten 5 to 4 and 11 to 5; Yanks Gain Half-game on Detroit

CRUCIAL SERIES OPENED TO-DAY

If the big schedule-makers had known in advance what was going to happen this season they couldn't have arranged it much better than they did in bringing together St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants in one big series, starting to-day, and the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees in another.

For a couple of weeks the steady upward progress of the two second-place clubs, St. Louis and Detroit, and the slump of New York's two leaders have been paving the way for a grand climax in the important games of the next few days and the events of the last week-end only served to increase the suspense.

Detroit climbed into a virtual tie with Yanks Saturday, then slipped back a half game yesterday when New York managed to get an even break in a doubleheader, with St. Louis, while the Tigers went down 7 to 6 before the Boston Red Sox. The Cards flashed away at the Giants' lead with a double victory over Brooklyn, 13 to 7 and 7 to 5, and finally cut it to one and a half games when Chicago knocked off the Giants in a doubleheader, 5 to 4 and 11 to 5.

Cubs, before a season's record crowd of 46,168, after spotting Giants a pair of homers, rallied behind Charley Root's fine relief pitching to take the opener in eleven innings. Then they blew a five-run lead in the afterpiece in one inning and came back in the same frame to blast out six runs.

LARGEST CROWD
Cards also attracted the largest home crowd of the season, 25,000, and entertained it by smacking out twenty-nine hits in their two games, winning the second on a four-run burst in the eighth after Dixie Dean had been hit to cover.

Yankees took the opener of their bargain bill 2 to 0 when young Johnny Brown whitewashed St. Louis Browns with two singles, but they yielded 3 to 1 in the tenth inning of the afterpiece when Julius Borchers, who had doubled home the first run, smacked Vito Tamulla for a homer.

Like Cubs, Chicago's White Sox maintained their place ready to jump on either of the higher clubs that got badly beaten. The Sox took a place four and a half games back of Yanks by bowing over Washington Senators 4 to 3 behind Ted Lyons' steady pitching.

In the lower sections of the standings the Phillies put in a big day by blanking Cincinnati twice, 4 to 0 and 2 to 0, as Curt Davis pitched six-hit ball. Pittsburgh, Bridges and Hayworth, granting only four blows, shut out the Boston Braves 7 to 0 for Boston's fifteenth consecutive loss, while Cleveland, another big loser recently, rallied to turn back the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 4 on a five-run rally in the seventh.

COAST LEAGUE
A playoff series for the 1934 Coast League championship is becoming increasingly probable as the Los Angeles Angels gather momentum in their current cellar-ward slide.

The Angels, last year's titleholders and winners of the first half of the split season by a big margin, last week lost their first series in three years to Oakland and skidded into sixth place in the standings.

The Oaks clinched the series victory yesterday by slamming out a 5 to 0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game went into extra innings with the score tied at 4 to 4 and then was called off in the twelfth to let the Angels catch a train. A 6 to 3 victory in Saturday's game combined to give the Oaks the series, four games to two.

The San Francisco Seals celebrated "Joe Di Maggio Day" by dropping both ends of a double header to Portland, 4 to 2 and 2 to 1, but that was no fault of the slugging young Di Maggio, who hit safely in his twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh consecutive games.

After getting off to an unpromising start earlier in the week, the Missions came to life yesterday to win two games, 6 to 2 and 5 to 0, from Sacramento.

Big Smead Jolley was the reverse-English hero of the doubleheader which Hollywood and Seattle divided at Los Angeles. With the Stars ahead 3 to 0 in the seventh, three men on and two out, Jolley muffed Chet Smith's high fly and three Seattle runs trotted across the plate. The Tribe then scored a couple more to win, 5 to 3.

Herman Pillel pitched the Stars to a 5 to 1 victory in the seven-inning nightcap.

When England Lost The Second Test With South Africa

The touring South African cricket team defeated England by 157 runs in the second test match at Lords, and this was the first test match they had won in the British Isles. This picture was taken as Mitchell of England was stumped out by Cameron off a ball thrown in by Balaskas. The three South Africans on the left are not going to attack the batter but are making a rush to "steal" the stumps as souvenirs of the match.

Vancouver, July 22.—Nanaimo City won the right to represent British Columbia in the Dominion cup football championship series by defeating New Westminster Royals 7 to 4 here Saturday.

This is the first time since 1927 that the Nanaimo team has reached the Dominion finals although they have been in the provincial playoffs many times in recent years.

The island eleven was a well-balanced team with little choice as to best players. Inkster did fine work in goal and Daisy Waugh, Sandland and Grey formed a forward line that was practically unstopable. Royals forward line was also in good form but they had difficulty in getting by Nanaimo's goalie.

TIED AT HALF

At half time the score was even with three goals each, the Royals rallying in the last fifteen minutes of the period. They took the lead in the second period but the Islanders came back and scored four more times to take the game, one of the most exciting struggles seen here in years, with a good margin.

Waugh opened the scoring, just after the game started, on a pass from Sandland, and George West almost immediately put the Islanders two up when he rapped in a poor clearance by Sandford, who was suffering from a torn ligament. Sandland was then taken from the Royals' goal and replaced by Stewardson.

Nanaimo kept forcing the game and soon added a third goal. Waugh worked his way down field and passed to Bell on the right. The winger returned the ball to Waugh who shot it past Stewardson.

Then the side seemed to turn and Royals scored three goals in a strong rally. Keddie scored the first goal for the Westminsters, eleven on a pass from Johnston. Then Kulai headed in a perfect corner from Johnston. Just before the interval Johnston and Keddie teamed up to tie the

TRACK CLUB STAGES MEET

Handicap Events Sponsored By Y.M.C.A. Well Contested; Meets Popular

Under the direction of John

Baxter, official handicapper, another handicap meet of the Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club was staged Saturday afternoon at the Victoria High School grounds. The officials were well pleased with the turnout, and feel that the trials are meeting with increased popularity.

The five events run off Saturday drew a large entry list, and every race and field event was well contested. Alec Gaunt, with a fifteen-yard start, breathed the tape in front of "Chuck" Cunningham, off eighteen yards, to capture the 220-yard race. Bill Thompson, off fourteen yards, won third place with a driving finish. The time was 23.4-3 seconds.

"Chuck" Cunningham, starting thirty-five yards in front of Joe Addison, scratch runner, took the 880 yards after holding off Addison's driving bid close to the finish line. Addison closed fast to take second place. Alec Gaunt, off twenty yards, was third. The time was 1:57.

Bill Thompson made up for his defeat in the 320 yards by winning the high jump with a leap of five feet two inches. M. Rowe, clearing at five feet one inch captured second place. Mickey Wait won the 100 yards for girls as he nosed out the scratch runner, Virginia Hall. The winner was given a handicap of twelve yards. Yvonne Lowndes scored another victory when she cleared four feet to win the girls' high jump. Mickey Wait and Virginia Hall tied for second place honors with a leap of three feet ten inches.

Coach Archie McKinnon had a number of his proteges toasting the discus and the javelin for the first time this season. With a number of big sports men planned next month, Coach McKinnon took advantage of the workout to give the boys a preliminary warm-up.

Brilliant lights, flashing periodically at Port Angeles, recently have caused some speculation from Victorians, who have seen them from the waterfront. They are flares sent up by United States battleships during night practice manoeuvres.

"Retreat" will be played by the Canadian Scottish Regiment First Battalion pipe band in front of the Parliament Buildings this evening at 7.45 o'clock. A programme of Scottish selections will follow, with Pipe Major A. Wallace directing.

President Len Woodhouse praised the host club for the splendid reception and other reports were given by Lawrence Mallek, Harold L. Butters, R. L. Challenor, Percy Moir, and Douglas Hunter. W. C. WOULD IMPROVE FISHING AREAS

Associated Boards of Trade Back Protection and Restocking Measures

Details of actions taken by the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island in efforts to improve fishing conditions, considered of vital tourist interest here, were outlined in minutes of the annual gathering which reached Victoria today.

The board went on record in support of the improvement of the Department of Pacific Biological Station, and of having two surveys conducted.

One survey was sought from the provincial and federal governments to cover fully the biological aspects of the lakes and rivers on the island with a view to restocking. Another sought a survey of the east coast of Vancouver Island to determine grise areas and salmon runs leading to spawning grounds with a view to protecting the salmon on their way to spawning grounds.

The associated boards also backed a request for public telephones on the Malahat Drive and sought a reduction in ferry rates on cars travelling by boat between Vancouver and Nanaimo.

NEW REPORT IN B.C. TRADE

Research Bureau Uncovers More Data on Provincial Position

Following up studies of British Columbia's trading position within Canada, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, head of the provincial research department, has prepared another comprehensive report on the relative bases of the province's business with the east and with world markets. Premier Pattullo announced this morning.

The Premier said he would make the report public within the next day or two.

Dr. Carrothers, on the Premier's instructions, commenced his study of B.C. trade about a year ago. As a result British Columbia was able for the first time to measure the effect upon the business of the province of the Canadian tariff policies. A feature of the first report compiled by Dr. Carrothers was to show the enormous overbalancing of British Columbia's purchases in eastern Canada against the east's purchases in British Columbia.

At the same time he demonstrated that the province's substantially favorable balance on world markets was completely wiped out by the unfavorable balance with the east, leaving a net balance against British Columbia to the tune of $11,000,000 in 1933.

The inference drawn from these figures was that the province had to go deeply into debt, both privately and publicly to make up this annual trade deficit.

In his study, Dr. Carrothers is understood to have gone more closely into this situation from the point of view of price levels as between export and import business. This, of course, is another phase of the tariff's effect.

RIDLEY ALL OUT FOR 41

Visiting College Cricketers Dismissed Cheaply in Match With Victoria

Visiting cricketers from Ridley College, playing at Macdonald Park this morning in the first of a two-game series against Victoria representative teams, found the local eleven too strong for them in the field, and scored only forty-one runs all out in their first innings.

Victoria replied with twenty-eight runs for the loss of five wickets as play was halted for lunch.

With one or two exceptions, the players on both teams found it next to impossible to get any length on their bats, with the result that fielding featured the morning's play.

Ridley won the toss and elected to bat. Wenman and Wilkinson, bowling combinations for the locals, turned in a beautiful performance, deceiving their opponents with slow and fast balls.

Wenman was exceptionally good form, getting six wickets for thirteen runs. Wilkinson, on the other hand, took three wickets for twenty-four. During one stage of the game, the visitors lost five wickets in a row for one run.

BELL GETS TWENTY

Bell appeared to be the only batter on the visiting line-up who played with real confidence, and his achievement with the bat was the feature of the first inning.

Before being bowled with a beautiful ball by Wilkinson, Bell had counted twenty runs, almost a half of his team's first inning total.

With the score standing forty-one for nine wickets, Goward replaced Wenman on the bowling line. Hutton's drive off Goward's first ball was caught by Wilkinson to retire the side. It was a nice piece of deceptive bowling and a beautiful catch that drew applause.

Wenman and Poynts went in to bat for Victoria, with Wilson and Cameron bowling for the visitors. Poynts was immediately caught out at point by Cassels for no runs. Comley, going in for Poynts, scored Victoria's first run. The game was held up briefly when Comley was hit by one of Cameron's fast balls. On the resumption of play, Comley and Wenman continued to drive in runs until Wenman was caught out by Poynts when he drove the ball into the slips. Wenman was out, and Victoria's first run was scored by Poynts for four, but he was yorked by Cameron after scoring only one run. The teams adjourned for lunch with Victoria at bat.

STEINWAY

Not only her many friends, but the entire music-loving public of Victoria are looking forward to this pianoforte recital by Miss McNeill. Like practically all of the great concert artists in the world to-day Miss McNeill uses the Steinway Piano exclusively. The Steinway alone has the magnificence of tone and easy, responsive action which concert performances demand.

B.C. ADVISER NOW AT WORK

Dr. Alton Peebles Takes Over Post on State Health Insurance

Dr. Alton Peebles, technical adviser to the provincial government on health insurance, has now taken over his post at the Parliament Buildings and is proceeding with organization work.

The government shortly will name an investigatory committee to hold public hearings on the draft bill for state health insurance. Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, said. This committee will sit during the remainder of the summer, with Dr. Peebles as adviser.

Dr. Peebles will also attend to much of the detailed work necessary in preparing the health insurance plan for actual operation in the province. The draft bill, tabled just before the end of the last session, will go to the Legislature next year. In the meantime, the government is seeking the views and opinions of all interested parties, industrialists, workers, hospitals, medical men and public bodies so that practical difficulties may be ironed out before the measure becomes law.

OFFICER LAID TO REST

Many sorrowing friends were present at funeral services held Saturday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, Metochin, for Lieut.-Col. Frank A. Osborne, who passed away in this city last Thursday.

Rev. H. M. Bolton, assisted by Rev. William Gemmill, conducted an impressive service, during which one hymn, "Immortal Love, Forever Full," was sung. Major Harry Watts represented the Army and Navy Veterans' Association.

A very large number of beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the esteem in which the late Col. Osborne was held. At the graveside, the 16th Canadian Scottish sounded the Last Post.

The following acted as pallbearers: Col. H. T. Goodland, A. E. Rutten, George Currey, J. E. Cornwall, A. D. Elwood and F. Luckey. Interment was in St. Mary's Church Cemetery.

Caird, Bernard Granted Remand

John M. Caird, and George Bernard, alias George Scott, charged with possession of a safe stolen from the Gorge Road home of D. O. Cameron, containing jewels and cash valued at more than $5,000, were granted a week's remand in the City Police Court this morning. Caird had been released on bail of $2,000, posted in two sureties.

PRESENTATION FOR TO-MORROW

Mrs. Margaret F. Masters, whose courage and presence of mind saved the life of a young boy in danger of drowning in Langford Lake on April 19, will be formally honored with the presentation of the Royal Canadian Humane Association's certificate to-morrow evening.

Mayor David Leeming will make the presentation to Mrs. Masters on the Show Boat, in the Inner Harbor, at 8 o'clock.

SMALL BUILDING WORK UNDER WAY

The duplex, valued at $3,500, is being built by H. R. Brown for Mrs. M. D. Austin, at 1042-1044 Yates Street. It will be of stucco construction and will have a double garage.

Permits for improvements to city schools were also taken out, two for $500 apiece for the High School and Burnside.

A $200 alteration was started on Friday on the premises owned by Frank Leroy at 503 Montreal Street, while alterations at 617 Vancouver Street are being carried out at a cost of $595.

As the start of their project to build a modern station on the north-west corner of Douglas and Cornwall Streets the Standard Stations Ltd. today took out a permit to demolish the old Commercial Hotel.

Hollywood—Possibly the least publicized, yet most prevalent hobby

among Hollywood's stars is that of philately. Almost all of screenland's great collect for themselves, for their children, or for friends, stamps from the envelopes on the fan mail which they receive from all over the world.

Glamorous Marlene Dietrich is one of the most avid of the collectors.

She is saving the stamps in an extensive collection, for her young daughter

Maria.

BING RECEIVES HUNDREDS

Bing Crosby and his two brothers,

Everett and Larry, who work in his

Paramount Studio office, all collect stamps for their respective offspring.

Bing's mail, which scales around 500

letters daily, comes from every part of the world.

In a single day's collection were

letters from England, Ireland, China,

Australia, New Zealand, Malta,

Straits Settlements, Spain, Argentina,

Brazil, Chili, France, Italy, Hungary, and a dozen other foreign countries.

George Burns and Gracie Allen have just started a collection for their adopted daughter, Sandra Jean.

Both are astonished at the foreign mail they receive, which indicates that Gracie's insane chatter is as popular abroad as it is in this country.

TOBY LATIN FAVORITE

Toby Wing boasts an extensive collection of South American stamps of various denominations from the numerous countries there. Toby is rated one of the screen's most popular players in the southern republics, the fans of which are continuously addressing impassioned letters to her.

Sylvia Sydney specializes in Oriental stamps. She is Japan's favorite star, countries.

All of the stars receive requests from various of their fans for foreign stamps, but usually they have so many requests from studio workers

WATCH YOUR PETS FOR YOUR CHILDREN'S SAKE

Keep House Animals Clean and Free From Infection to Avoid Disease in Family

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

When you have a pet in the house,

safeguard your children!

Keep this warning in mind, and you will enjoy, rather than regret,

the presence of a dumb animal. For no matter how carefully you watch your pet, nor how clean you keep them, they are always subject to certain diseases that can be transmitted to you or your children.

Particularly at this time of year there is danger from rabies. Since dogs are closest to human beings as pets, most human rabies is caused by them. But the cat, and even the cow, may cause the same infection.

When your dog develops a sudden and complete change in disposition and begins snarling and biting, beware of danger. Lock the dog up immediately and keep close watch over him to determine whether he has hydrophobia.

If a pet has been bitten, not a moment should be lost in giving him the Pasteur treatment. This is almost always a certain preventive.

A bite on the face or other exposed part of the body is more dangerous than a bite anywhere else, and so immediate action is imperative.

Dogs also are dangerous flea spreaders, and animals generally are subject to infestation by lice and ticks. These insects can cause much irritation and infection, and can transmit dangerous diseases.

Tapeworm, too, can be transmitted from dog to human being through the innocent process of expressing affection for a person by licking the face or hands, or by getting scraps of food in the family dishes. Once a person is infected, the cure is difficult.

Cats have about the same types of diseases that affect dogs, and occasionally some of the common infections.

To avoid serious trouble from pets,

here are seven rules for you to follow:

1. Keep your pet scrupulously clean.

2. Pets should have their own dishes, and should never use any of the family dishes.

3. Immature pets, especially dogs, against rabies annually, and keep dogs muzzled when they play with children.

4. Do not let animals, nor birds,

"kiss" children or lick their hands.

There is no healing in a dog's tongue.

5. Pets should be kept in their own quarters. After they are handled, the hands should be washed thoroughly, especially before meals.

6. Never let pets sleep with children.

7. When a pet is ill, it should be isolated. If rabies is suspected, a veterinarian should be called. If it is necessary to destroy the animal,

the head should be sent to the nearest laboratory to determine whether rabies was present.

Tarzan The Untamed

Tarzan opened his eyes as consciousness returned. Above him towered the huge lion, its hot breath upon his face, its rough tongue upon his cheek. The ape-man had often been close to death; but never, he thought, as close as this.

His brain still numb from the effect of Olga's blow when she felled him, Tarzan believed his end but a few seconds away. Presently he recognized the lion; and with this came a realization of the astounding fact that Numa, at least, for the time being - was not bent upon devouring him. The ape-man's position was a delicate one. He could not rise, for the beast was astraddle him. He dared not push Numa away. He thought the lion might consider him dead and - any movement would probably arouse the killing instinct of the man-eater. But Tarzan was in no mood to lie there forever - especially when he contemplated the fact that the girl who had struck him down was undoubtedly rapidly escaping.

What Families Crave Most Finds, Is To Hear Mother Laugh

ONCE heard a small child ask his mother why she never laughed as Mrs. A. did, as a jolly peal of mirth came from a neighboring window. Before she could answer, her husband exclaimed: "I would give a thousand dollars to hear your mother laugh like that just once," to which the woman replied by sighing and saying self-righteously that she was not of the vulgar and noisy type.

The little episode made me wonder why it is that among women cheerfulness is a discredited virtue and one they feel that they are under no obligations to practice in the home. Yet it is the one thing that their families crave of them above all others, the one thing that would do more than anything else to make them successes as wives and mothers.

When a conscientious woman tries to do her sacred duty by her family, she keeps her house clean and orderly; she serves scientifically balanced meals that contain the proper vitamins; she looks after her husband's and children's physical wants, but she only too often overlooks their need to be pepped up and she fails to realize that they would rather she made good jokes than good pies.

For proof of this we have only to observe the women among our personal acquaintances. All of us know some one woman who is a sleek housekeeper, whose windows are never as clean as they might be, whose meals are never on time, whose children generally need a patch or a darn or to be washed behind the ears, who wastes her husband's money, but who is jolly and easy-going and whose house always rings with laughter, and invariably she is adored by her husband and children and her home is the gathering place for all the youngsters in the neighborhood.

A happy home does not depend upon the material comfort in it. It depends entirely upon the attitude of the woman at the head of it. A gay and light-hearted woman can make a place of enchantment out of a hovel. A dismal, weepy woman can make a palace an abode of woe that gives everyone who crosses its threshold the jitters. A cheerful, helpful woman inspires her children to do their best and keeps them out of their tipsies. A wet-blanket mother takes all the enthusiasm out of her children and melts down their courage so they are whipped before they ever start to fight.

"A cheerful mother is the greatest blessing any boy can have, his richest asset," said a man who had risen from poverty and obscurity to riches and fame. "We were desperately poor when I was a child. The whole family crowded in two rooms. We often had only potatoes and milk for supper. But my mother laughed us through it all, so we never knew we were undergoing any hardships. She never remonstrated the fact that we were 'underprivileged.' She made work a thrilling adventure and buoyed us up with tales of what other poor boys and girls had done and what we could do, too. If we tried, it was to her unquenchable optimism that I owe whatever I have done that was worth while in life."

Cheerfulness is the one and only genuine follow-this-and-you-cannot-fail recipe for retaining a husband's affection and nailing him to his own bedside. Beauty fades, besides a woman doesn't look good long to her husband if she wears crepe trousers around the house. A woman ceases to be a spellbinder when she becomes a whiner and a complainer. Even good cooking falls upon a husband if it is salted with tears. No man wants a wife who looks like a woman who looks as if she were pinch-hitting for the early Christian martyrs.

Life is hard on men. All day they are bullied and badgered and torn with anxieties and by night they feel that they have had about all the grief they can stand. They don't want to hear the saga of anybody else's troubles. They don't want to be reminded of the depression. They don't want to hear of everything that has gone wrong in the home.

They want to be met at their front doors by a wife who wears the smile that won't come off, a wife who laughs off misadventures instead of having hysterics over them; a wife who has ready something funny in the papers or heard a good joke, and when a man finds a wife like that not all the good-looking in the world can drag him away from her. Probably half the men who leave home do so in search of cheerful companionship and to get out of a place that reeks with gloom.

Moreover, cheerfulness is first aid to popularity. Gay people attract us and we just gravitate toward them. It is such a relief to get with some one who isn't going to tell us a tale of woe and beat upon their breasts while they bemoan their sorrows. We have troubles of our own that are all we can bear and we shun those who are going to add to them.

Women have always thought that tears were their most effective weapon. They are mistaken. It is cheerfulness. A woman with a laugh hung on a hair-trigger can always get whom and what she wants.

Uncle Wiggily at the Lake

By HOWARD E. GARIS

When Mrs. Longears saw Uncle Wiggily fastening his automobile to his rabbit lady was so surprised that she could only say:

"Oh, Wiggie!"

"Yes, dear, what is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he let the last rope so that his airship floated like a balloon over his auto.

"Wiggie, what in the world are you doing?"

"Getting ready for our summer vacation," was the answer. "It's a little late this year, but still there is plenty of time for us and the children to have fun. Get ready, my dear, tell Nurse Jane to get ready, get the children ready and away we'll go!"

"Where are we going?" asked Mrs. Longears as Uncle Wiggily looked at the toy balloons on his clothes basket airship and made sure the electric fan propeller would whirl around fast.

"To a lake for the first part of our vacation," answered the bunny gentleman. "We are going to Green Lake up in the mountains. Later we may go to the seashore."

"Oh, how lovely!" said Baby Bunty and some of the other little rabbit boys and girls who heard this. "When are we going, Uncle Wiggie?"

"Right away," answered Mrs. Longears. "I looked to make sure the boys' saw-sage tires on his auto weren't flat and then said, 'Get your things together, faces washed and we'll go to the lake.'"

It did not take long for them all to be ready. By means of a rope ladder some of the bunnies climbed up and sat in the airship, which was fast to the auto.

The others got in the car with Uncle Wiggily, who took his place at the auto steering wheel.

"Isn't it rather strange," asked Nurse Jane, "to go on a vacation in an auto, towing an airship?"

"Not at all," said Uncle Wiggily, pinkening his trunk nose as a change from twinkling his pink nose. "I don't want my airship to run away so I fasten it to the auto. I can't drive the airship and the auto at the same time unless I do it this way. As it is now, when I drive the auto up to Green Lake, my airship will follow and we'll all get there at the same time."

"And what a lot of fun we'll have at the lake!" shouted Bunster.

"Jolly good!" said Jingle his sister.

So away they went, the auto rolling along the road and the airship floating overhead. Uncle Wiggily needed both to take his big family on their vacation. At last they arrived at Green Lake in the woods on top of a mountain. Under a big oak tree stood a large cottage in which the rabbits were to live.

A FUNNY BOAT

While Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears were unpacking the best beds and the best ready and preparing for dinner, Uncle Wiggily took the little rabbits down to the water. Floating on the lake were several boats: a motor boat and some row boats.

"Oh, I'm going out in a row boat!" cried Bunster.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggie!" cried Baby Bunty. "What makes the boat go when the boys aren't rowing and when it isn't a motor boat?"

"I don't know, I must see," said Mrs. Longears. Getting into another boat, he rowed out to the one that seemed to be running away with the rabbit boys. "Oh, ho!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "A big mud turtle has got the rope and is towing the boat along. I'll stop him." Uncle Wiggie cut the rope and then the bunny boys came back to the dock and all was well.
